Shipping Strike Talks To Resume

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Negotiations aimed at ending the longshoremen's strike which has tied up West Coast shipping for nearly eight weeks, will resume Wednesday.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association, in a joint announcement, said the talks would resume at 10 a.m. and be on "all items" except local issues.

The cyief roadblock in the strike was a demand by the ILWU that its members have jurisdiction over loading and unloading shipping containers on areas near the docks.

The decision to resume talks came after a three-day meeting of the union's coastwide negotiating committee, with representatives from all 24 struck ports.

About 150 ships have been tied up in Pacific Coast ports since the walkout began July 1. The clamp on shipping has severely hurt the economy of Hawaii and affected worldwide shipping.

Mayor Frank Fasi of Honolulu declared a "state of emergency" in his city Monday and flew to San Francisco Tuesday to talk to both sides.

His action followed a statement by Hawaii Governor John Burns who advocated that the state seize the Honolulu docks and charter ships for emergency supplies "if the situation in the islands becomes critical."

Shipping executives pointed out that there was no tieup in Honolulu, and the dock seizure would accomplish naught.

The vice president of Seatrain, W.R. Starr, said the governor's proposal of chartering ships was no guarantee that the striking West Coast longshoremen would work them. Previous bids by Seatrain and Matson to free ships from San Francisco for emergency runs between Hawaii and Canadian ports were negated by the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU).

Starr countered the governor's offer with one of his own. Seatrain suggested that one to three of their container ships be turned over to the Emergency Resources Management Agency, an official state agency, which would handle the cargo priorities.

Matson Navigation Company last week proposed to run its ships between Hawaii and the West Coast on a non-profit basis for the duration of the strike, allotting any profits to charity or the state of Hawaii.

Seatrain says it would pay retroactive pay raises to the ILWU from any new agreement eventually worked out between the union and the Pacific Maritime Association, even though Seatrain is not a member of PMA.

Mayor Fasi said under the "emergency powers" he can operate the shipping line just as he took over the Honolulu bus system when it was tied up by a strike last January.

Fasi said he would also consult with San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto during his visit to San Francisco. Meanwhile in San Francisco, Longshoremen's union officials met Monday to decide whether to resume talks with management aimed at ending the dispute.

THE HEAT DOES CRAZY THINGS

High temperatures in the high 80s, combined with high humidity, do not make for ideal working conditions, especially in the seaside city of Portland, Maine. The heat apparently went to this welder's head yesterday as he fixed his hood to resemble a monster while working on a new city parking garage.

An Extension Of Controls Is Predicted

Commerce Head Backs Mandatory Regulation

By MIKE FEINSILBER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said today "some form" of mandatory wage-price controls would be required after expiration of President Nixon's 90-day wage-price-rent freeze on Nov. 12.

Stans is a member of the Cost of Living Council which has been given the task by Nixon to work out a long-trm anti-inflation program when the present freeze runs out.

Stans' statement followed announcement by the government of action aimed at stabilizing mortgage interest rates — which were not inclúded in the freeze —and to make more money available for loans to home buyers.

In his assessment of what will follow the 90-day freeze, Stans went beyond Treasury Secretary John B. Connally who said Monday that some measures would have to be taken following the 90-day period.

Stans held a news conference following a 90-minute session with the heads of 11 business corporations.

"Uniformly the businessmen I spoke to are willing to accept some form of continuing controls for the purpose of controlling inflation," he said. "I agree that some sort of control system is necessary after the termination of the 90 days."

Stans said the only two options which could now be ruled out was to do nothing when the freeze ended and to impose "permanent wage and price controls of the World War II type."

The government moves concerning interest rates were announced about two hours before Stans' statements.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB), which regulates savings and loan institutions, announced a reduction in the amount of cash those institutions must keep on hand in reserve for emergencies, freeing up to $800 million for lending to home buyers.

At the same time the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (FHLMC), which buys mortgages from S-and-L's, cut its charge which would reduce the cost of a $20,000 mortgage by $600 and also announced it would make $300 million available to buy FHA and VA mortgages.

The reduction in the S-and-L reserve requirement was from 7 1-2 per cent to 7 per cent of total withdrawable deposits of an institution.

The moves fell short of a freeze on interest rates as suggested by some labor leaders and Democrats. One main objection of organized labor to the administration program for economic uplift was absence of controls on profits and interest.

Preston Martin, FHLBB chairman, told a news conference he was confident the two actions would halt an upward climb in mortgage interest rates.

The upswing started in June and accelerated in July after a sharp decline from historic highs reached during the tight money period of 1969 and 1970. At that time interest rates paid by home buyers were as high as 9 per cent.

Said Martin: "This action and

IRS OFFICE TO EXPLAIN THE FREEZE

The Internal Revenue Service office in San Rafael was designated yesterday as one of 18 IRS offices throughout Northern California which will assist in explaining and enforcing government's 90-day wage-price-rent freeze.

The IRS offices will aid the Office of Emergency Preparedness in answering questions from the public and processing complaints concerned with alleged program violations.

The IRS was asked to help because it has more resources and personnel than the emergency preparedness office.

The IRS office in San Rafael is located in the Federal Building at Third and D Streets.

An Elaborate Jackson Plot

By MARY LEYDECKER

An elaborate plot which included additional weapons and a map showing an escape route through Marin County apparently was aborted Saturday when it was pulled off prematurely at San Quentin, causing the bloody deaths of five persons.

Also dead at the end of the brief reign of terror was one of the plot instigators, Soledad Brother George Jackson, 29.

Three guards, Sgt. Jere Graham, 39; Frank P. DeLeon, 44, and Paul Krasenes, 52, died in execution type slyings, and two inmates were also killed by fellow prisoners when they said they wanted no part of the escape.

In addition, three guards were also injured.

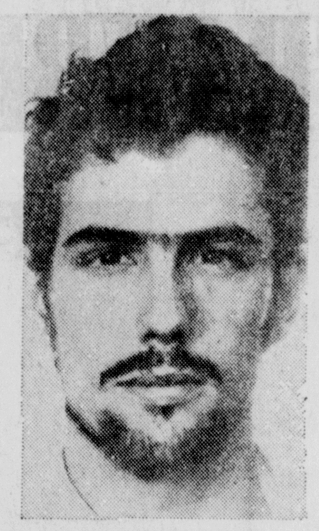
The Independent-Journal has learned that during a search yesterday of the adjustment center at the prison, from which Jackson attempted to escape carrying a smuggled gun, a map was found which plotted an escape route through the county.

Also found in Jackson's cell was a zip gun hidden in a bar of soap and the barrel of a .22-caliber pistol secreted inside a package of Velveeta cheese.

The I-J has also learned that in the cell of Larry John Spain, a convict who accompanied Jackson on his short dash for freedom, officers found four shotgun shells and 17 .38-caliber shells.

Two containers of plastic explosive were also found in the search for contraband.

Sources said that the map showed that the escapees apparently intended to travel on foot through the Canal area of San Rafael and then to Greenbrae. The map ended at Marin City, where the escapees evidently expected help to be waiting for them.



STEPHEN M. BINGHAM
Last visitor

Meanwhile, authorities were still looking for the attorney who visited Jackson just before the violence began. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales denied that he had withdrawn a bulletin issued for Stephen Mitchell Bingham, 29, of Oakland.

Yesterday he said that he had asked Oakland and Berkeley police to look for Bingham, the scion of an Eastern political family, who has long been interested in black causes.

It was also rumored that Bingham was accompanied to the prison by an unidentified woman, who was not allowed to visit Jackson.

Prison officials have refused to confirm any details of the plot but have said they believe the small gun pulled by Jackson from his hair came into the prison in a tape recorder.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said that an "Afro" manufactured wig was found today in a cell toilet, where an attempt had apparently been made to flush it.

It is believed to have been worn by Jackson to conceal a small smuggled gun. Earlier, it was unclear whether he had on a wig or whether the weapon was secreted in his own hair.

Park would not say in whose cell in the adjustment center the wig was found.

Associate Warden James W.L. Park also said that he believed the intended escapees were forced to put their plan into action prematurely when a guard spotted the gun in Jackson's hair.

"I've been told two or three versions of what Jackson said when he got the drop on the officers," Park said today. It was something like, 'We've got to do it now.'"

The I-J has also learned the circumstances surrounding the deaths of two inmates, John T. Lynn, 29, and Ronald L. Kane, 28, who were "tier tenders" (convicts who help distribute meals.)

After Jackson took a master key from one of the guards and freed about 25 convicts, he and his accomplices approached Lynn and Kane in the kitchen, where they were preparing to distribute lunch.

When asked, "Are you with us or against us?" both replied, they wanted no part of any trouble. They were then taken to separate cells, bound and told, "If you're not with us, you're against us. You're going to die." Their throats were then slit. (Lynn, who once took part himself in a prison escape, reportedly told an officer last week that he had come to the point where he just wanted to serve his time quietly, get out, get married and "get a mortgage on a house.")

The I-J has also learned that the first officers who went into the adjustment center after Jackson was killed outside and an alarm had been sounded, riddled the building with shotguns and submachine guns.

It was believed that the shooting interrupted the torture of two guards, Charles Breckenridge, 23, and Urbano Rubiaco, 24, and probably saved their lives. (Breckenridge remained, however, in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a slashed throat.)

Park today confirmed that Breckenridge was clad only in his undershorts when he stumbled out of the adjustment center, vomiting blood on the sidewalk.

The stripping of the officer has led to the speculation that the excapees intended to make their break wearing guards' uniforms.

Officials have also confirmed that toy guns were found taped to the legs of two children of Jackson's sister when they came to visit him about a month ago.

This was believed to be a "dry run" to find out whether a gun could be smuggled in by saying that a shoe buckle was setting off a metal detector.

MASTER PLAN

'Eastern Urbanized Corridor' Proposed

By JEFF GREER

(Second in a series of four articles).

Marin County's new preliminary countywide plan proposes to limit population growth to 60,000 persons per decade at least through the year 1990.

The plans call for concentrating almost all the new population in the "eastern urbanized corridor" extending along Highway 101 from Sausalito through Novato.

In the plan, Marin County planning officials and the City-County Planning Council call for transforming what now are essentially commuter-oriented, bedroom communities into diversified cities with more employment in offices, clean industry, public services and concentrated, rather than scattered retail shopping centers. A wider variety of housing was urged to serve all ages and economic classes.

Recognizing that the commuter will long be with Marin, the plan calls for serving the urbanized corridor with a balanced transportation program comprising a mass transit system, a series of ferryboat terminals, and a central-county heliport. New lanes on Highway 101 also are suggested.

Locating most of Marin's future new residents in the Highway 101 corridor probably will happen whether or not it's planned that way, according to Sol Silver, one of the county-wide plan's architects. He reported that a University of California computer was used to build a model of Marin's future, based on unrestrained real estate development — and the imaginary people congregated in East Marin.

The computer and several other Bay Area forecasts predicted that unrest rained growth in Marin through the next two decades would add up to 180,000 new residents, rather than the 120,000 called for in the preliminary plan.

"But we're not advocating pulling up the bridges to keep people out," Silver asserted. "We've got a lot of talking to do with the cities." Nearly every inch of Highway 101 runs through one city or another.

The countywide plan's architects base their hope that the cities will cooperate in preserving Marin as "a very special place" on the role of

Judge Delays Giants' Case 'Til Season Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Municipal Judge Gerald J. O'Gara is considerate of the San Francisco Giants baseball team.

The judge distributed a news release to announce one of his decisions, which judges almost never do.

The decision O'Gara wanted publicized was to delay a court case involving the Giants until after the baseball season.

"It would be unfair to require the Giants' front office men to take time from the pennant race in order to testify at the trial," O'Gara said.

Angela Describes Loss Of Jackson

Angela Davis sent yesterday a message from her cell in the Marin County Jail in which she described the death of George Jackson in Saturday's bloody San Quentin escape attempt as "the loss of an irretrievable love."

Meanwhile, Jackson's mother, Mrs. Georgia Jackson, made arrangements for a funeral Saturday in Oakland for her son, saying that he was a victim of a plot by prison officials to get rid of him.

Miss Davis in her written statement said that "For me, George's death has meant the loss of a comrade and revolutionary leader but also the loss of an irretrievable love. This love is so agonizingly personal as to be indescribable."

She said her friend Jackson died by "fascist bullets" and "belongs to a very special breed of fallen black leaders."

Miss Davis has been a strong supporter of the Soledad Brothers and is accused of conspiring to free them through the abortive kidnap-escape attempt last August at the Civic Center.

Jackson's mother claimed yesterday that her son was shot in cold blood and his body thrown out into the prison yard. (Marin Coroner Donovan O. Cooke said Jackson's wounds showed no gunshot powder, indicating that he was shot at a distance as prison officials said.)

The prison revolutionary is to be buried next to his younger brother in Mount Vernon, Ill., his father said. The younger Jackson died in the shoot-out last August, and his father said he visited Jonathan's grave two weeks ago on the anniversary of his death.

Lester Jackson Sr. said, "While I was there I bought a grave for George and myself. I knew things hadn't been going well for George, so I made this arrangement."

Funeral for Jackson will be at St. Augustine Chapel in Oakland, the city where the Black Panther Party headquarters are located.

Meanwhile, the two remaining Soledad Brothers, Fleeta Drumgo and John Cluchette, were to appear in San Francisco Superior Court today for pretrial proceedings in their case in which they are accused of murdering a prison guard last year.

Collegians' Wild West 'Shrew' Wins An Ovation

EDINBURGH (UPI) —The College of Marin's wild west production of "Taming of the Shrew" opened to a capacity auldienceMonday night and dropped the final curtain to a standing ovation.

Acclaiming the performance as "one of the successes of the 25th Edinburgh International Festival" Bruce MacLeod of the Scottish Daily Express newspaper said it was " a rip-roaring success."

"It's all there from six guns and stetsons to cowpokes and dancing girls with a backing of Bonanza style music," he said.

"Shakespeare's speeches emerge in broad Texan and the star of the show is an Annie Oakley student called Alice Rorvik," he said. She plays Katherine.

The young actors from the California college had been apprehensive about playing Shakespeare to a British audience. They were delighted with the reaction.

"We all feel elated," said Mark Rasmussen, 22, of Lagunitas, Calif., who plays the principal male role of Petruchio.

"It was fantastic—they loved it just like audiences back home," said Jim Harper of Fairfax, Calif., who plays Batista Minola.

"I was nervous because I didn't know how we would be received for taking Shakespeare's dialogue and putting it into the wild west."

Joel Blum, 19, of Marin who played Lucentio and spoke the first lines of the play said "The whole atmosphere was very warm — they responded right away."

Director of production and member of the school drama department Jim Dunn praised the entire cast.

"Everyone gave a great performance but the quick acceptance by the audience was what made it a success. The set was not complete until just before the doors opened and many of the back room boys worked day and night—in the end we only had four rehearsals, but it was all worthwhile," he said.

The play is being presented in the 90-seat Viewforth Center Church Hall on the outskirts of Edinburgh.

Remaining schedule calls for two shows today, tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sept. 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 9 and 11. The troupe, which departed for Scotland on Aug. 12, will return to Marin County on Sept. 14.

REPORT IN PART CLEARS PANTHERS

House Panel Says Group's Rhetoric 'Has Always Exceeded Performance'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Internal Security Committee has investigated the Black Panthers and decided that the revolutionary group does not present a clear and present danger to the American way of life.

The committee issued a 145-page report, concluding that the "Panthers' rhetoric regarding revolutionary activity has always exceeded performance." It contended, however, that the arming and training of Panther members has contributed to an increase in acts of violence.

The report was authored by the Democratic majority on the nine-member panel. The four Republican members disagreed with the "tone and emphasis" of the report, saying that it failed to portray the "insidious purposes" of the party.

Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., chairman of the subcommittee which conducted hearings on the Panthers, replied:

"Some might say it (the report) is too sympathetic to the Panthers for it would be possible without departing from the facts to write a real zinger of a report which would carry a stronger sense of outrage than the present report. Such a report would run the risk of making martyrs of the Panthers.

"A cooler and more balanced report would avoid any possibility of reviving a flagging Panther party by making available the charge of 'oppression'."

The committee's basic finding said: "The Black Panther Party, through its deliberately inflammatory rhetoric and through the actual arming and military training of its members, has contributed to an increase in acts of violence and constitutes a threat to the internal security of the United States.

"The committee does not hold that the relatively small group of Black Panthers has at any time constituted a clear and present danger to the continued functioning of the U.S. government or any other institutions of our democratic society."

It said the Panthers have failed to win over many adults in black inner city areas because they come off as "young hoodlums posturing for the communications media and exploiting the community they professed to serve."

On March 17 of this year FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, appearing before another House subcommittee, said the Panthers constitute "a constant threat to the security of the nation through their propensity for violence, hatred and opposition to constitutional government."

Hoover estimated at that time there were about 1,000 Panter party members in 48 chapters across the country.

The committee used to be called the House Un-American Activities Committee (HUAC), and was always quick to sound the alarm over groups it considered subversive. But over the past few years some liberal Democrats have won seats on the panel, accounting for a moderation in its operations.

PRESIDENT MARCOS
Security measures

Emergency Security In Manila

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said tonight he had to order emergency security measures in the Philippines because Communist terrorists were planning to burn down Manila and kidnap and assassinate government leaders.

Marcos appeared on nationwide radio and television for the second time in two days to explain his proclamation suspending the writ of habeas corpus which allows national police authorities to search without warrants, arrest and detain suspects for as long as necessary.

Marcos said military authorities have in their possession a list of suspected Communist subversives and that arrests were being carried out. He said he had referred to a panel of lawyers "voluminous documents" linking an opposition senator, Benigno S. Aquino Jr., with the subversives.

The proclamation was issued shortly after the grenade attack at a political rally in Manila Saturday night that killed eight persons and wounded nearly all the top leaders of the opposition Liberal party.

"There is a plot and a conspiracy to wreak vengeance not only against government officials but innocent civilians. The targets included a plan to burn down Manila and kidnaping, not only in Manila but also in other areas. This is why I acted," Marcos said.

U. S. Gears For Viet Elections

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command today ordered all American servicemen off the streets of South Vietnamese cities and towns because of possible political unrest in connection with Sunday's parliamentary elections.

On battlefronts, U.S. B52 bombers and artillery pounded North Vietnamese rocket emplacements, troop concentrations and artillery positions inside the Demilitarized Zone.

The U.S. command also reported that two American F4 Phantom jets attacked an anti-aircraft site inside North Vietnam Monday after it fired on a third U.S. F4 flying a reconnaissance mission nearby.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, ordered American servicemen to remain on bases or in barracks when off duty at least until Sunday.

A "grey alert" took effect early today, a U.S. command spokesman said. A "Grey alert" restricts military men to their base when off duty.

The American Embassy last week issued a directive that all U.S. government civilian personnel should stay off the streets of Saigon and all major cities after working hours until further notice.

Political jockeying for the Oct. 3 presidential election climaxed over the weekend with two of three contenders, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh, both withdrawing from the race.

Both accused the third and only remaining candidate, President Nguyen Van Thieu, of rigging the election in his own favor. The result has been a climate of political turmoil with both Ky and Minh followers both opening discussing the possibility of a coup.

The U.S. command said Abrams issued the order after he "took a look at the embassy directive and took into account reports of possible trouble being stirred up during the elections."

The streets of Saigon were clear of U.S. servicemen in or out of uniform today except for American Military policemen checking identity cards.

New Regime Puts Down 1,000 Bolivian Students

LA PAZ (UPI)—Bolivian army troops supported by tanks and bombing runs by two vintage air force planes routed an estimated 1,000 leftist students from the capital's San Andres University Monday, smashing a major pocket of resistance to the new rightwing military regime.

The day-old government of Col. Hugo Banzer announced, meanwhile, it had begun a cleanup campaign against leftist holdouts on the Laikakota Ridge, a strategic highpoint in the capital where some of the heaviest fighting occurred during the revolution against leftist President Juan Jose Torres.

Two World War II P51 Mustangs bombed and strafed barricaded positions at the university to cover an estimated 180 advancing mountain troops. At least 12 persons were killed and dozens were injured in the battle which lasted little more than an hour.

Bombs from the single-engine propeller planes blew off the top floor of the 15-story, brown-painted university building. The planes were ordered in after the students for 12 hours resisted a government ultimatum to lay down their arms and surrender.

Casualties from the battle brought to 124 the number of persons killed and more than 650 wounded since the revolution started Thursday in the rebel stronghold of Santa Cruz, 330 miles southeast of La Paz. More than 900 persons were killed in La Paz alone during the Bolivian revolution of 1952.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Surrenders

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — One of six antiwar activists who escaped after allegedly taking part in a raid on selective service and other government offices here surrendered to FBI agents Monday, bringing the number of arrests to 21.

Dr. William Anderson, 36, whose home the FBI said was used by a group of 26 persons to plot the raid, surrendered and was charged immediately with six counts of conspiracy.

He was questioned for an hour and then released on $1,000 of $10,000 bond posted by his father.

The FBI arrested 20 persons Sunday when the alleged plot to destroy government records backfired. Five others eluded capture and were still at large.

The government's perfectly timed counter-raid was made on precise information supplied by an unnamed informer who won the group's confidence.

Meanwhile, 17 of the 20 persons arrested Sunday, including two Roman Catholic priests, remained in jail in lieu of bail ranging from $5,000 to $150,000.

Arrest Made In Plane Bomb Hoax

Smith was expected to be arraigned Tuesday morning for a "false report of a bomb aboard an aircraft," FBI Special Agent J.E. Milnes said.

Antidrug Program Due TV Airing

Experimental antidrug programs under way at Hamilton Air Force Base will be examined in a special, "Rescue of Downed Airmen," to be presented at 10 p.m. tomorrow on KPIX television.

The program will consist of interviews dealing with the base's limited amnesty program for drug users and a "rap" project.

Hussein Warning

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

King Hussein of Jordan warned today that any Arab moves to resume attacks on Israel could result in "greater losses and more catastrophe."

Hussein's warnings, in an interview with a Beirut newspaper, appeared directed mainly toward Egyptian President Anwar Sadat who has repeatedly said that the Middle East crisis must be settled this year.

Hussein said the Arab situation "is very bad-weakness and disintegration threaten the worst consequences." He said their defeat by Israel in the 1967 war did not seem to have taught the Arabs a sesson.

"The solution is in the hands of the Arab leaders themselves, who must take the necessary measures to serve the public interest," the newspaper Am Nahar quoted Hussein as saying.

Joint Space Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union hope to start planning this fall for a joint flight by cosmonauts and astronauts.

David R. Scott, commander of the Apollo 15 moon landing, said at a National Press Club luncheon Monday the two nations planned to resume in October their already "very fruitful" discussions about developing a common linkup system for their manned spaceships.

Scott said the talks would lead "to producing real hardware and real plans for a flight."

Corona Plea

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)— The attorney for Juan V. Corona says his client may die in jail before a jury can decide whether he hacked and stabbed 25 farm workers to death.

Richard E. Hawk asked Monday that the 37-year-old former mental patient be freed on reasonable bail and that Corona's trial be moved to another town because impartial proceedings were "impossible" in this agriculture community.

"I think a long period of incarceration will kill him," Hawk said.

After filing his two motions with the Sutter County Superior Court clerk, Hawk told newsmen the farm labor contractor has lost 30 to 35 pounds since being jailed May 26, has not been allowed to see his four children and has been harmed mentally.

Sniper Fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—An army patrol came under sniper fire today in Coalisland and an explosion at Pomeroy cut most of the power to the town, an army spokesman said.

No one was injured in the incidents, the spokesman said. Northern Ireland's two largest cities, Belfast and Londonderry, were quiet, he said.

The spokesman said six shots were fired by a sniper at the patrol in Coalisland, 32 miles west of Belfast.

City Bans Horses On Bike Paths; Nod To Bridle Path

The Tiburon City Council kicked horses off its pedestrian and bicycle pathway last night and then gave them a path of their own.

The council approved on first reading an ordinance banning horses from paved portions of the Richardson Bay pathway first, then agreed to spend up to $3,000 to construct a parallel bridle path.

Under provisions of the ordinance, no horse may walk along or across the bicycle-pedestrian path except at three access points, where crossing the pavement may be necessary.

A similar move to ban horses from the paved trail was defeated Aug. 9, when councilmen adopted an urgency ordinance prohibiting motorized vehicles from the pathway.

Also approved last night was a change order providing for a four-foot graded earth trail for the use of the city's 40 horses.

The bridle path will parallel the eight-foot-wide bicycle and pedestrian path and run on the northeasterly side between the bike trail and Tiburon Boulevard.

In voting 3-2 for the equestrian trail, with Mayor Denis T. Rice and Councilman Branwell D. Fanning dissenting, the council overrode a plea to separate the bike and horse paths.

Polly Smith, a Tiburon resident and member of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, urged a fence between the two trails.

"I have grave misgivings about putting a horse trail so close to the bike path," she said. "Horses don't like bicycles."

The Tiburon City Council also:

SNACK BAR — Referred to the council's lands and development committee a master plan for a snack bar and public restrooms at the Angel Island State Park ferry slip, 21 Main Street. PATH — Amended a subdivision agreement with developer James W. Derryberry to delete a requirement that a trail in the Meadowhill subdivision be paved.

OPEN SPACE — Heard Planning Director Richard J. Arjo announce he will present to the council at the Sept. 13 meeting a proposal to hire a consultant to prepare an open space element for the city's general plan and a timetable for completion of the work.

TAX RATE — Set a 1971-72 property tax rate of 73.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, down from last year's 80-cent rate.

BID — Awarded a $26,107 contract to Ireland and Robinson of Belvedere to pave the city corporation yard and install sheds, underground storage tanks and a retaining wall.

ARGUMENT — Authorized City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer to accept arguments for and against annexation of Strawberry, Bel Aire and Eagle Rock for mailing to voters. If more than one argument is submitted, Balmer will choose the one to be mailed.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13 at city hall.

Article In Error Over Police Chief

A compalint from a former Salinas police chief, Raymond J. McIntyre, has brought to light an error in a Marin Magazine story published April 3 by the Independent-Journal.

In that story Col. George H. White, former district supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics mentioned that during the early 1960s the bureau was "trying to get the goods" on a Salinas police chief for narcotics violations and burglary.

McIntyre wrote the Independent-Journal that he had served as police chief of Salinas from 1949 through 1966 and was never charged or investigated for narcotics or burglary.

"I consider my record in Salinas speaks for itself," the chief wrote. "I have an unblemished record in Salinas and I am quite disturbed that Colonel White would make such a quoted statement and that your paper would publish such a statement without verification."

White — retired, but serving as chief of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department — said this week that, not only did his remark not apply to Chief McIntyre, but that the police official he had in mind was actually the police chief in another Central California community.

McIntyre said he had been approached by a number of people on the I-J article. Noting that he has "always been a respected member of any community in which I have lived," McIntyre said the article had caused him embarrassment.

Corrupt Police Are His Target

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy Monday issued what appeared to be an ultimatum to his high-command officers that they will be demoted if they refuse to cooperate with his anticorruption campaign.

The commissioner's most recent hard line was taken during a television interview on Sunday when he stated he was "fed up" with corruption and said he would hold his commanders personally responsible for corruption in their commands.

His sentiment was echoed the next day when he ordered his commanders, captain and above, to fill out a questionnaire by next Monday, detailing their personal finances.

Court Asked To Enforce Lease

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Officers of a non-profit association that works with alcoholics and drug addicts asked Superior Court on Monday to enforce a lease they said they obtained for a mansion owned by the United Arab Republic.

The building had once been the UAR consulate in San Francisco's swanky Pacific Heights District.

John Maher and Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Pacheco, directors of the Delancey Street Foundation, said in their suit they had rented the 28-room mansion last month from the UAR's realty agents and had paid $2,000 for the first and last month's rents.

They also told the court they had spent an additional $15,000 refurbishing the building.

RIGHT NOW, AMERICAN MOTORS WILL REFUND THE 7% FEDERAL EXCISE TAX ON ANY '71 YOU BUY. NO MATTER WHAT CONGRESS DECIDES TO DO.

Make a deal with your dealer. Then American Motors will send you a check for $100 to $200.

On August 15, the President recommended that the 7% Federal Excise Tax on automobiles be repealed.

But it won't become official until Congress votes on the recommendation sometime next month. And nobody knows exactly what they'll do.

So, when you buy a '71 from us, you won't have to wonder what's going to happen.

And, at a time when American Motors dealers are making their best deals of the year, we're making it an even better deal.

When you settle on a price with him, he sends us a card. Then we'll send you a check for $100 to $200, depending on the price of the car you buy.

This offer is valid on all our 1971 Gremlins, Sportabouts, Hornets, Javelins, Matadors and Ambassadors. It's also good on all Jeep models, except trucks.

And, if you bought a new '71 from one of our dealers on or after August 16, see him about your refund from the company.

So, while all the other car companies are waiting around for Congress to act, American Motors is acting.

See your dealer now.

With the deals he's giving, plus the refund we're giving, this could be the best automobile buy in history.

Extension Of Fiscal Controls Predicted

the signal it represents is to say to lenders, 'Go ahead and make your loan. We want you to continue to make funds available to your community.'"

Martin said hundreds of savings and loan associations were "bumping up" against the reserve requirements, causing them to refrain from making additional mortgage loans and putting an additional pressure on interest rates.

He said S-and-L's were underwriting $3 billion worth of mortgages a month, but the growth of recent months had leveled off, threatening to curtail a boom in the housing industry.

The official quotation in trading today was one dollar for 3.396 German marks, the equivalent of a dollar devaluation of 7.2 per cent from the former official exchange rate of 3.66.

The quotation when the West German market closed Monday had been 3.425. The drop was attributed partly to reports that the International Monetary Fund was privately proposing a dollar devaluation in relation to the mark of 12 to 13 per cent.

The dollar remained generally stable on other European money markets today.

In France, the dollar closed slightly stronger than on Monday. In London, it slipped slightly at the close of today's trading.

The United States wants the dollar to sink in value in relation to other currencies so that American exports will cost less on world markets and imports cost more in the United States.

These were other developments in connection with Nixon's economic plan:

—Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said the government was likely to retain some controls on the economy after the 90-day wage-price freeze ended. Connally said it was "highly unlikely" that all controls would be lifted.

—The 350,000-member Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks said it would feel free to strike the nation's railroads if members did not get scheduled wage increases on Nov. 13, the day after the freeze ends. BRAC President C. L. Dennis estimated his men would lose $304,000 between scheduled contract increases Oct. 1 and the end of the freeze period.

—Leonard Woodcock, United Auto Workers president, said the UAW would have supported Nixon's economic moves if they had included a freeze on profits and interest rates. Woodcock reaffirmed that the UAW would seek court action against the 90-day freeze and would void its contracts with the auto industry if the freeze lasted more than 90 days.

Some Democrats and labor union leaders had severely criticized Nixon for not including profits and interest rates in his freeze order.

Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, said prior to the Martin press conference that credit control legislation passed by Congress two years ago gave Nixon the power to control interest rates.

"It is economic folly of the highest order to let the banks go scot free while the rest of the nation is called on for sacrifices," Patman said.

"This is broad power, giving the President authority to stabilize and roll back interest rates to any level he desires," Patman said.

Four professors at Catholic University in the District of Columbia filed suit in U. S. District court asking an immediate end to the freeze, apparently the first such court action against Nixon's new policies.

The four charged in the suit brought Monday that Congress violated "the basic constitutional framework of separation of powers" by delegating its powers to the executive branch without setting forth any guidelines.

On another front it was revealed that a 8 per cent price hike announced by the basic steel industry nine days before the freeze began would not be affected by the freeze. Without the ruling the industry might have been pinched trying to cover the 15 per cent wage increase athat went into effect for steelworkers Aug. 1, the government said.

In California the western White House announced that the government would drop its case against Texas Gov. Preston Smith, now that Smith has been overruled by his own attorney general in his defiance of the wage freeze. Smith wanted to grant wage increases to 132,000 state employes and school teachers Sept. 1, but dropped his plans after the Texas attorney general ruled that the freeze reached the state level.

Rural citizens who need information on the administration's wageprice freeze program may be able to get it at county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) service, officials said today.

Spokesmen said the county ASC offices, which administer farm programs for the Agriculture Department, have been designated as "receiving centers" for queries about the freeze.

Newhall Hints Lawsuit Over Busing Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Scott Newhall said Monday he will sue Mayor Joseph Alioto if the mayor fails to enforce busing laws when schools open in September.

Newhall, a former newspaper editor now seeking Alioto's job, condemned a statement the mayor made last week in which he said San Francisco police would not be used to "hassle young mothers" who refuse to allow their children to be bused to school under terms of a federal court order.

"If, when the schools open, the incumbent mayor does not discharge his duties under the city charter (on complaints against parents) then ... I shall personally seek a writ of mandate in Superior Court to force him to exercise those duties which he is sworn to perform," Newhall said.

$700,000 In Grants At SSC

More than $700,000 in federal loans, grants and work-study funds will be available to an estimated 600 Sonoma State College students for the 1971-72 school year.

William Frenaye, director of financial aid, said that although the amount is higher than last year, his office has already received 1,500 applications for various grants or loans. The funds are earmarked for students from low-income families.

Included in the Sonoma State funds will be $352,000 from the National Defense Student Loan Program; $147,000 in Educational Opportunity Program grants; and $202,000 for an 18-month federal work-study program.

Trial Set On Assault Count

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A jury trial has been set for Oct. 18 in U.S. District Court for Milton Mohr, 40, of Kent Woodlands, on a charge of assaulting two federal agents.

Mohr, one of the owners of a Tenderloin bar, pleaded innocent to the charges on Aug. 10.

The two agents said that when they went to the Mohr home at 296 Crown Road to serve a subpoena in connection with an investigation into organized crime in Northern California he kicked one of them and pushed the other.

Mohr is president of West-Ent Inc. which owns the Mocambo Bar, currently under investigation in connection with prostitution, credit card thefts, illegal liquor dispensing and tax violations, according to the agents.

NAACP Seeks Prisons Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today called for an investigation of prison violence in California.

Alice Daniel, spokesman for the fund, said such a probe "should not be limited to seeking ways to repress violence but should get to the real causes of prison violence— the conditions that drive men to engage in this deplorable behavior."

Miss Daniel said California has a unique problem because of its "indeterminate sentence" law, under which inmates do not know how long their term is. She also said the "adjustment center" system at the California prisons "builds resentment."

QUENTIN

said yet which of the approximately 25 convicts released by Jackson participated in the violence but it was believed that several, including Ruchell Magee, took no part other than to leave their cells.

Officers are still seeking to establish other details of the violence, too which began at about 2:35 p.m. when Jackson was being searched after a visit with attorney Stephen Mitchell Bingham.

Park said that the prison remained under lock up today except for a few inmates in one cell block who were allowed to go to prison jobs. He said no visitors were being allowed.

Union Election Is Not Sought

James Andrews, representative of the California Licensed Vocational Nurses Association, said that the Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that vocational nurses at Marin General Hospital will ask for a union representation election.

The Marin Hospital District board will meet at 7 p.m. today in the coral room at the hospital.

Collier Blessing To Election Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Randolph Collier, chairman of the powerful Finance Committee, today tacitly endorsed a bill which would virtually eliminate special midterm elections to fill vacancies on school boards.

The Yreka Democrat said the measure by Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, could save the state about $1 million if the Senate gives it final legislative approval.

The bill has already passed the Assembly.

McGovern Drops War As Big Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George McGovern, D-S. D., said Tuesday he is dropping the Vietnam War as his main campaign issue in favor of the economy.

In a major shift in strategy, the Democratic Presidential contender —known principally for his outspoken opposition to the war —told a group of financial writers "I expect to say very little about Indochina in the next year."

Idaho Girl, 9, Hurt In Two-Car Collision

A 9-year-old Idaho girl was treated for a bruised cheek at Novato General Hospital yesterday following a two-car crash yesterday about 5 p.m. on the Blackpoint cutoff.

Julie Soutter was injured when a car driven by her father, Gordon T. Soutter, 39, and another driven by Henry Ibarra Jr., 25, of 769 Plaza Linda, Novato, collided on the highway, according to the California Highway Patrol which had no details of the crash.

Bike License Moratorium To Continue

Petaluma's moratorium on bicycle license fees will continue through Sept. 5.

Free licenses can be obtained daily from 9 a.m. to noon including weekends at Fire Station No. 529 at Payran and East D Streets and at Fire Station No. 3 at 831 South Mc Dowell Boulevard.

Identification numbers are also being stamped on several sections of the bicycles to aid in the recovery of stolen bicycles or parts. Licenses are good for one year and normally cost $1.

Police Chief Larry D. Higgins instituted the moratorium so more bicycles would be licensed and perhaps reduce the growing number of thefts.

Mill Valley Nod To Development

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night conditionally approved an application for a five-acre commercial development at East Blithedale and Lomita Avenues.

Planning Director Tom W. Newton said Sutter Hill Development Co. of Palo Alto, the applicant, was requested to make minor revisions in the design and resubmit plans to the commission at its next meeting Sept. 13.

The commission also granted a variance to allow 54 parking spaces at Pat and Joe's Restaurant, 71 Throckmorton Avenue.

Guilty Plea To Burglary Charge

Barbara Lynn Stephens, 18, of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a second degree charge of burglary.

She is to be sentenced Oct. 4.

Miss Stephens and Randy Turner, 19, of San Francisco, were arrested May 11 when Sausalito police allegedly found them at the home of Phillip J. Bailey at 61 Crecienta Drive. Stereo equipment was found piled by the door of the house, police said.

Turner has pleaded innocent to the charge and is awaiting trial in superior court.

Lumber Yard Expansion Set

The Corte Madera Board of Design last night gave qualified approval for proposed expansion of a lumber yard on Tamalpais Drive.

The yard will be part of North Bay Lumber Co., 5776 Paradise Drive, owned by Henry Hulett.

The Board requested that Hulett post a bond to insure he will devise landscaping plans for the street, in cooperation with representatives of the city's parks and recreation department, the city engineer and city manager and submit these plans to the board.

$5,000 Change Order Approved

The Tamalpais Union High School District board last night approved a $5,000 change order for construction of a new lecture hall at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The change involves grading down the location of the hall to prevent flooding, according to Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins.

In closed session, the board reviewed the circumstances surrounding the dismissal of Kenneth A. Anderson, 30, teacher for four years at Tamalpais High School, and decided to proceed with the dismissal in Marin Superior Court.

Denies Grand Theft, Burglary

Horror Of My Lai Is Recounted In Trial Of Medina's Commander

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—The horrors of Vietnamese hamlet My Lai 4 are being recounted once again in a military courtroom, this time in an effort to convict an officer not charged directly with the murder of civilians there.

Col. Oran K. Henderson, commander of Capt. Ernest Medina and Lt. William L. Calley Jr. —both charged with responsibility for civilian deaths at My Lai on March 16, 1968 — is being tried on charges of covering up the alleged massacre.

Despite defense objections that eyewitness testimony of the massacres was not needed because the defense concedes that a massacre did occur, chief government prosecutor Maj. Carroll Tichenor put two witnesses to the murders on the stand on opening day Monday and planned to present four more today.

Roy F. Trevino, 23, San Antonio, Tex., led off the second day's witnesses with his recollections of the massacre. He told of seeing 75 per cent of the village burning.

Tichenor said in reply to a defense objection that he would stop Trevino's testimony if the defense would agree there was a lot of smoke over My Lai 4 while Henderson was in a helicopter above it.

Tichenor was trying to prove that Henderson had to be aware of what was going on on the ground below.

Tichenor's reason for replaying testimony essentially brought out previously at the Calley and Medina trials became evident when he asked each witness whether Henderson had interviewed him or talked to him after the incident about what he saw. Each answered, "No, sir."

One of the charges against Henderson is that he was derelict in his duty for failing to investigate the incident. The defense contends Henderson, who will be 51 Wednesday, did investigate and that what was told him did not warrant a report to superiors, the basis of the second charge against him.

Henderson —who wore all his many ribbons on his chest Monday for the first time since pre-trial hearings began early in April —also is charged with two counts of lying to a special army inquiry into the incident.

Retired Brig. Gen. Andy A. Lipscomb, who yielded his command of the Americal Division's 11th Brigade to Henderson one day before the incident, lauded the characters of Henderson, Medina and Calley during his testimony as lead-off witness Monday.

Now a stock broker in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Lipscomb admitted under questioning that he made no attempt to phase Henderson, his executive officer without combat experience, into the job. "No, I never considered that necessary," Lipscomb said.

The defense suggested it was unfair to expect Henderson to do everything right on his first day in combat without experience.

Psychology, Addiction To Drugs Cited

KINGSTON, R. I. (UPI)—Drug addiction may be more a psychological condition than is generally supposed, according to three University of Rhode Island pharmacologists. It seems to be true in rats, at least.

Dr. Harbans Lal and doctoral candidates Mark Roffman and Cherjerla Reddy base their program on experiments done with morphine-addicted rats, in which the rats were taught to associate injections of morphine sulfate with the ring of a bell.

The scientists withdrew the rats from the drug in two groups—one injected with a replacement saline solution and the other receiving no treatment at all.

The researchers then measured the decline in body temperature, which is normally associated with morphine withdrawal in humans and rodents.

According to the results in a paper presented Monday to an international symposium on drug tolerance, addiction, abuse and methadone treatment in New Orleans, the group of rats receiving the saline solution showed no decline in body heat while the group receiving no treatment showed a considerable decline in body heat.

"We found that the longer a rat was given the bell-salt solution treatment after being withdrawn from morphine, the shorter the withdrawal period he experienced after treatment was discontinued," said Roffman.

"If this kind of reduced withdrawal time can be achieved in humans, the implications would be enormous. We could literally teach addicts to reduce the time required for them to go through withdrawal," he said.

"Medical researchers have long theorized that psychological and physical dependence on addicting drugs were independent", Roffman said.

Sewer Hike, Bonds To Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors gave final approval Monday to a new sewer tax and to putting bond issues totaling $102.5 million on the November ballot.

In order to raise funds for sewers, water rates are to be increased enough to bring in $13 million. The average annual city water bill, which is now $40.07, will be increased by $33.10.

Bond issues include $56 million for school building earthquake-proofing, $34 million for a containerized port facility, $3.8 million for courtrooms and $8.5 million for fire protection improvements.

Hub Youth Injured In Cycle Mishap

A 19-year-old San Anselmo youth was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken right arm and cut chin received in a solo motorcycle accident at 5:15 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the crash, said Thomas C. Morrison, of 11 Van Winkle Drive, was hurt as his vehicle traveled west on Stuyvesant Drive in Sleepy Hollow.

Pilots Tell Of Bodies At My Lai

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—Two helicopter pilots testified today that they saw more than 100 bodies at My Lai but neither was asked to connect their deaths with Capt. Ernest L. Medina, on trial for murdering 102 civilians in the Vietnamese village.

Dan R. Millians, who commanded a helicopter gunship the day American troops swept the village in 1968, testified at Medina's court-martial that he saw 50 to 75 bodies piled in a ditch east of the village.

Another 10 to 15 bodies were at the intersection of two trails south of the village, Millians said, and 10 to 15 more were seen at the northern edge of the hamlet.

Still more bodies were scattered throughout My Lai, he said, and the total in the area was "approximately 150."

Capt. Jerry R. Culberhouse of Ft. Eustis, Va.—who was Millians' copilot the day of the sweep—agreed that he saw the same groups of bodies witnessed by Millians.

Millians and Culberhouse were the 21st and 22nd witnesses presented by the prosecution, which planned to offer testimony from a total of 48. So far no one has placed Medina in My Lai during the wholesale slaughter of men, women and children by American soldiers.

Medina, commander of Charlie Company during a U.S. Army search-and-destroy mission through My Lai, is charged with the murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians, two by his own hands and the rest by his troops.

The army contends Medina knew about the massacre but did nothing to stop it and thereby encouraged more killings.

Medina's civilian attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said, however, that Medina ordered a cease-fire as soon as he heard of the slayings.

Fairfax Man Held In Theft

A 44-year-old Fairfax man, charged with grand auto theft, was being held today at Marin County Jail for San Francisco police.

Fairfax police said they arrested Leslie Elwood Rykert of 166 Canyon Road at 8:35 p.m. yesterday at his home on a warrant from San Francisco police.

He was booked into the jail at 10:35 p.m. Bail was set at $1,875.

A KEY TO THE FUTURE — Highway 101 — shown crossing Richardson Bay on a bridge now being widened to eight lanes — will be supplemented by provisions for mass transit, a fleet of ferryboats, and helicopter or short-takeoff aircraft, if the visions of the new proposed countywide master plan come true.

DEVELOPMENT WITH NO FREEWAYS

FREE OR CONTROLLED FUTURE? — Computers were used to draw these maps of what may happen to Marin County by 1990, if "unconstrained market forces" are allowed to influence development. The drawing at left shows that without West Marin freeway access, development would concentrate in the eastern corridor along Highway 101. But even with the proposed national recreation parkway (right map), the bulk of growth still would be to the east, the computer said. The proposed countywide master plan would deliberately urbanize the eastern corridor, and discourage population growth in the central and western areas.

DEVELOPMENT WITH FULL FREEWAY SYSTEM

MASTER PLAN

A Population Shift Proposed: An Urbanized Eastern Corridor

the City-County Planning Council in drafting the long range scheme.

Should the cities not go along with the plan's controlled development along Highway 101, they will nevertheless, get an "eastern urbanized corridor, according to Solnit, but a corridor with little to recommend it as a place to live or work.

The proposed "inland rural corridor" and the "coastal recreation corridor" could be controlled more closely by the county. No incorporated cities exist in either of the planning areas.

Louis H. Baar, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, has warned that some West Marin communities' residents may be forced into incorporation, to cope with problems of public service.

In recent weeks, he has repeatedly voiced this thought, in talking of Bolinas and Stinson Beach sewage problems, road needs, and other stresses.

The preliminary countywide plan makes recommendations that may go against the grain of some cities.

For instance, the countywide plan proposes that the Northgate area of San Rafael become "the county's downtown."

Silver explained that the area should become not only the principal regional shopping center, but also the prime location for governmental and commercial offices as well as some industry.

Novato, with its intensive study on the future of its own downtown, Corte Madera with plans for a new, 75-acre regional shopping center, and Larkspur, with hopes of expanding its Bon Air center, may be unhappy at the prospect.

Silver explained that the countywide plan hopes to return to the cities' historic downtown areas their function as pedestrian-oriented places to go for goods and personal services.

Revamping the county's transportation pattern should do away with the glut of traffic in the cities' downtowns by allowing motorists and mass transit riders to take new routes, Silver said.

Chief new routes proposed for the eastern corridor are a road linking Terra Linda with the Sleepy Hollow area, and a connection from the White's Hill area of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Lucas Valley Road.

Useful "over-the-hill" routes already exist to serve travel off Highway 101 between such cities as San Rafael and the Ross Valley communities, and Corte Madera and Mill Valley. Proposed preservation of the Marin Headlands as open space will ease the pressure for an alternate route from Sausalito to other southern Marin valleys where communities are nestled, the planners hope.

The preliminary countywide plan also emphasizes the need for more varied housing. In addition to urging facelifting much of Marin's older, deteriorating housing, the plan calls for new concepts to encourage developers to provide low and moderate-income housing, it also suggests that second units could be added to many single family dwellings without harming the environment of the eastern corridor.

Rather than see new shopping centers scatter willy-nilly on presently undeveloped land, the countywide plan calls for more intensive development of existing shopping areas. An exception is the suggestion that key terminals for mass transit and ferryboat service would be logical places for new shopping center development.

Ferry terminals are suggested for Sausalito, Richardson Bay, Tiburon, the mouth of Corte Madera Creek, and the mouth of Las Gallinas Creek.

While the master plan proposes to situate nearly all of Marin's newcomers into the eastern corridor, it envisions no radical change in the structure of local government — except perhaps for creating some sort of a regional agency to help solve the major task of preserving open space.

The plan urges greenbelt areas between cities to keep them from merging into an amorphous "Los Angeles," as well as to preserve open areas along the shoreline and highways.

Several cities already are considering regional approaches to open space. Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley have held meetings to consider a joint program to acquire the North Ridge area before it is invaded by developers' bulldozers.

Sickle-Slaying Suspect Indicted On One Charge

NEVADA CITY (UPI)—The Nevada County Grand Jury indicted sickle-slaying suspect Clarence Otis Smith Monday night on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

The indictment was presented to Nevada County Superior Court Judge Harold Walters after the jury met for nearly two hours with Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner and heard testimony from an undisclosed number of witnesses.

Walters immediately set bail for the suspect, who is being held in jail at Brownsville, Tex., at $87,500. He also ordered the grand jury transcript sealed and imposed a gag rule in the case.

The indictment accuses the 43-year-old unemployed garbage collector with attacking Kenneth Garbe, 20, Applegate, Calif., at the Dog Bar campground in the Sierra foothills July 12.

Two persons were killed and Garbe and another person were injured at the California campground by a man who hacked at them with what was described as a sickle.

Another Quake In Los Angeles Area

LONG BEACH (UPI)—The second minor earthquake in two days occurred in this coastal city Monday night about 9:45 p.m. As in the first tremor, there were no reports of damage.

The Sunday quake which registered 2.5 on the Richter Scale centered in the San Fernando Valley and Hollywood areas.

S. California Oil Slick Blamed On Navy Tanker

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — A 30-mile long oil slick, spilled from a military tanker, washed up on three beaches today and threatened an oceanfront stretch including President Nixon's private beach.

A Navy spokesman said the slick composed of "bunker C" fuel oil, extended from Dana Point to as far as Oceanside and was about 50 to 100 yards wide.

President Nixon's luxurious beachfront villa is about eight miles south of Dana Point and officials said strong west winds could push the oil onshore there. Nixon and his wife currently are staying at the Western White House.

The slick averaged about two miles offshore, according to the spokesman, but had washed up at Doheny Beach State Park, San Onofre Beach and parts of the Camp Pendleton Marine Corps base.

A total of 100 sailors Monday were sent to Doheny, a popular surfing spot, to clean up the half dollar-sized particles of oil. Also to be cleaned was the main breakwater at Dana Point Marina, where oil smeared the rocks of the jetty's base. The spill, estimated by the Coast Guard at 1,200 gallons, came from the USS Manatee, while it was refueling the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga last Friday.

"It was human error, not a mechanical malfunction," said Rear Adm. J. W. Williams Jr. "We are prepared to clean up the oil wherever it is. We'll do our utmost to limit the damage."

A spokesman for the State Fish and Game Department said no wildlife, such as birds, had been found affected by the oil but he warned there could be some.

"Members of the department's staff with experience in the Santa Barbara and San Francisco Bay oil spills are being brought to Southern California. A team of scuba-trained underwater biologists has been sent to the Dana Point area to document the effects of the oil on tide pools and submerged areas," the spokesman said.

A HILLSIDE PARK PROGRESSES

What looks like chocolate chips on the hillside is really fertilizer dumped by national guardsmen for a playing field at Boyd Hillside Park in San Rafael. The redwood mulch, being dumped in the flat area off Robert Dollar Drive, will condition the soil for grass. Children in the area had no place to play other than the Coleman School or Albert Park which is about eight blocks away. The guardsmen from the 579 Engineering Batalion, Company D, under the command of Capt. Ronald J. Collotta, were assisted by the San Rafael Public Works Department.

Bigger Budget Set By Marin City CSD

A $72,557 budget for 1971-72, approximately $8,000 higher than last year's $64,123 figure, has been approved by directors of the Marin City Community Services District, district secretary Lillian Lee reported.

The budget, adopted by the board on Thursday, includes $54,362 for salaries, including $11,340 for district executive director; $7,620 for secretary and $7,560 for building superintendent. Other salaries: recreation supervisor, $5,573; assistant recreation supervisor, $5,443; St. Andrew's playground director, $5,650 and two part-time recreation aides, $3,559.

Also in the spending program is a $16,498 expenditure for operation and maintenance of Manzanita Center, insurance and supplies for the district and a $1,600 reserve fund.

Mrs. Lee said the district's estimated revenues for the coming year will total $25,677, including rents, taxes and contracts. She said the county has agreed to provide the district with $44,986 in financial assistance. According to Mrs. Lee, the remaining $1,000 needed to complete the budget is expected to come from revenues from the People's Community Market, a weekend flea market operating in Marin City which pays the district 25 per cent of its net revenues.

The county auditor's office reported the district's tax rate for 1971-72 will remain at $1 per $100 of assessed valuation, the same rate as last year.

U.S. Has No Evidence Of South Vietnam Coup

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A State Department spokesman said Tuesday that any coup attempt aimed at South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu "would be a most unfortunate development."

The spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey, told reporters that an alert restricting U. S. military personnel to their bases in South Vietnam during off-duty hours was not an outgrowth of any evidence of a coup.

He said the United States had no evidence that anyone in Saigon might be considering a coup.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Gen. Duuong Van Minh, both of thom refused to run against Thieu in the Oct. 3 presidential election on grounds it was rigged for Thieu, have spoken openly of a possible coup.

McCloskey was asked by reporters why the "gray alert" affecting U.S. forces was ordered.

He replied: "One thing involved is that there elections for the assembly this coming week and from time to time there have been indications that dissident elements in South Vietnam might announce some anti-American activity."

A Replacement

Nixon Authorizes License Sales For Patents

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon issued an executive order Wednesday authorizing the sale of exclusive licenses to developers of government patents.

Currently government-owned patents are turned over to the public domain after a certain period and this has resulted in the unwillingness of potential developers to buy licenses.

The effect of the executive order will be to make government patents more salable because they will now include exclusive rights to develop the invention.

The White House announcement said Nixon acted on the recommendation of a commission appointed in 1965 to make a long-range study of the problem.

Stay Tuned

To keep performance up and pollution down.

In our last ad, we talked about some of the things Chevrolet is doing to help clear the air. About how carbon monoxide emissions from our engines have been reduced, on the average, by about two-thirds and hydrocarbons have been cut 80%. And how all our engines now run efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gas.

There are ways you can help, too.

Have your engine tuned at least once a year. An untuned engine doesn't burn gasoline efficiently, allowing hydrocarbons to escape into the air. (You not only waste gas, but money as well.)

Replace your carburetor air filter and have your PCV valve checked regularly.

A Bizarre Slaughter Of Children's Zoo Animals

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — Practically the entire animal population of a small children's zoo in this Westchester county community was slaughtered during the night by intruders, who may have been "psychos or crazed on dope," officials reported Tuesday.

One zoo official said the animal killings were as bizarre as the Sharon Tate murders in California.

Patrolman John Guarino said ears were ripped off rabbits while they were still alive. He said blood was smeared all over the windows, animal ears put on door knobs and a sign which read "snack bar", was placed on top of some mutilated carcasses.

"Some rabbits were slammed against the building, breaking every bone in their bodies and a few were thrown on the roof," Angelo Valentino, the zoo supervisor, said. "Clown Heads which we use on our waste receptables were taken off and placed among the mess."

Valentino said the toll was 11 rabbits, three pigeons and one chicken. The zoo's one monkey managed to escape up a tree but with a severe wound on his head, Valentino said. The monkey at first would not be coaxed down to return to his cage — "he was very shook up," Valentino said.

Valentino said he would close the zoo for the remainder of the year.

Police said the zoo had experienced other troubles recently. Its two raccoons were set free and one swan was killed and another wounded by gun fire.

"I'm convinced its a prime example of what dope does to kids," Valentino said.

"And I'm equally convinced that if anyone had accidentally stumbled upon the slaughter—they would have been killed also."

16-Year-Old Girl To Regain Some Arm Use

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A 16-year-old girl whose left arm was lopped off by a whirling airplane propeller and reimplanted will probably regain at least some use of the arm, according to a spokesman for Orthopaedic Hospital.

"She is coming along real fine, and we expect she will be going home this Saturday," the spokesman said of Ann Shelly.

"It is still too early at this time to tell how much use of the arm she will have but it looks very much like it will be usable to some extent," the spokesman said.

Miss Shelly was helping a friend guide his taxiing light plane out of a parking location at the Van Nuys airport July 22, walking backwards before the plane, when the propeller sliced through her bicep. The severed arm was brought to the hospital with her, where a team of surgeons labored six hours to attach it.

Miss Shelly will have to submit to a program of physical therapy of "manipulation and exercise that could go on for years," the hospital said. Her mother is a physical therapist and will guide her.

Burglary Case Goes To Juvenile Court

The case of John Michael Van Liew, 20, of Mill Valley, was transferred to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday.

He is charged with burglary in connection with his arrest June 30 when a Mill Valley policeman allegedly saw him inside Quinn's Tavern, 2 Corte Madera Avenue, after the bar had closed.

Sailboat Rescue Near Farallons

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Coast Guard cutter Point Barrow on Monday towed in a dismasted sailboat which was observed by an airplane south of the Farallon Islands on the Pacific Ocean.

Guards said the Satin Doll and its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bush of Seattle, were towed inside the Golden Gate. The boat then went to the St. Francis Yacht Club under its own power.

A plane en route from Honolulu to San Francisco spotted flares from the stricken vessel and notified the guard.

Clampdown On Prisons Announced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The director of California's State prison has announced a new get-tough policy for "revolutionary type" convicts which will restrict their visitors and their reading matter.

Raymond K. Procunier, state corrections director, said Monday: "We just have to get rid of some of these bad bastards and segregate them from the rest of the inmates."

There had been rumors before Saturday's violent escape attempt at San Quentin Prison that mass violence from outside was being plotted to erupt at all prisons simultaneously, he added.

As soon as he heard that three guards and three convicts had been killed at San Quentin, Procunier said he telephoned all the other wardens and told them: "No matter what it takes, lock up."

Now "we're going to beef up security in all buildings," Procunier declared.

Flying Park Police Idea 'Pays Off'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —National Park Service officials credit a new flying squad of trouble-shooting park police with having helped keep the parks cool this summer.

A new law enforcement program, officials say, appears to be paying off—both by providing manpower to meet emergencies and special training for regular park rangers.

The Washington-based 40-man mobile unit was formed last year after the Park Service came under criticism for its handling of a hippie gathering in Yosemite National Park.

Park Service Director George B. Hartzog Jr., in asking Congress for money for the new unit, said park rangers had neither the training nor the experience to deal with demonstrations and conceded there had been "mistakes of judgment" in handling youths who had gathered in the California park.

Hartzog said the special unit was placed in the National Capital Park Police Organization because of its "cool, level-headed" handling of crowds during many demonstrations in the national capital.

Congress, concerned over increasing crime in the parks, last year gave Hartzog a $550,000 supplementary appropriation and an additional $1 million this year to strengthen law enforcement.

Deputy Assistant Director Lawrence C. Hadley, the man directly responsible for the program, said in an interview it had been "most effective."

While the existence of the mobile squad had allowed the Park Service to stretch its manpower, Hadley said, the chief benefit of the new program had been the additional law enforcement training given park rangers.

Rangers selected by park superintendent now join U.S. park police in a 12-week training program in Washington.

Lt. Hugh Grove, the officer in charge of the mobile squad, also praised the sending of rangers to the training program at park police headquarters. He said both the police and the rangers benefited from a better understanding of each other's problems.

Grove has headed police contingents of various size already sent to various parks to deal with potential problems. But neither Grove nor Hadley was prepared to say yet the mere presence of the mobile squad headed off trouble.

The first use of the new squad was over the Easter weekend when 26 men headed by Grove flew to the Death Valley National Monument. Park Service officials feared youths expected to attend a rock festival in the nearby Panamint Valley might invade the ecologically fragile desert park.

But the feared invasion did not occur, Grove said, because the underground press warned Death Valley was a "bad scene" with rattlesnakes, not enough water and unbearable heat.

"It just never got off the ground," he said.

Since that time, Grove has headed other contingents to Zion National Park in Utah, Mount Rushmore in South Dakota and to Yosemite.

TIME RUNS OUT

The flag on the parking meter says it all: time has run out for the old Courthouse in San Rafael, where Marin's judicial history unfolded from 1873 until 1969 when the Hall of Justice at Civic Center was completed. A fire May 25 took first crack at destroying the courthouse as flames gutted the building. Now Ghilotti Bros. of San Rafael are finishing the demolition by leveling the historic building with a huge crane and other equipment.

Web-Spinning Spiders Swell Unemployed Ranks In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Spiders have joined the list of thousands out of work in Britain. Their job in a northern England optical equipment factory has been taken over by a machine.

The spiders, with the Latin name of Epeira Diademata, known as "Eppy" for short, for years have been vital to the Vickers instruments firm in York.

The spiders' webs were used to produce fine markings and sightlines on instruments such as telescopes and surveyor's theodolites. Now a new electronic etching system has been devised which is easier to use than Eppy's webs and just as accurate.

"It is remarkable, the spiders' webs could be accurate to within just over a ten thousandth of an inch," George Key, 63, a foreman at the factory, said Monday.

"I have worked here for 48 years and the firm was using the spiders long before then. They were essential to the work. But now we have no use for them."

He said every year at the end of August apprentices from the factory used to go to a nearby common and crawl on their hands and knees looking for Eppy.

In a good two-week hunting season, they used to find 200 females, recognized by a white cross on their backs, Key said. After spinning their webs at the factory, the spiders were returned to the common.

The webs, with up to 40 feet of thread, were sufficient for the following year's needs.

Key said the apprentices would search the gorse bushes on the commons and catch them in the early morning mist.

"We used to catch scores of them, but now there are fewer gorse bushes so the spiders are becoming scarcer. We only found about a dozen when we held our last spider hunt."

Marin City Flea Market Gets Conditional Permit

The People's Community Market, successor to the Potpourri Flea Market in Corte Madera, can continue its operation in Marin City as long as toilet facilities, refuse disposal and a fence are provided. The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday granted the market, sponsored by the Marin City Community Services District, a conditional use permit for approximately 150 vendors on Donahue Street, near the Highway 101 entrance.

The market, owned by Arlene Booker and Dennis Monahan, also must submit a plan for off-street parking and traffic control within two weeks in addition to providing toilet facilities, daily refuse disposal and a fence around the area.

The market moved from its Corte Madera site on Redwood Highway because the land was sold to an auto agency. It had been operating in Marin City for a month without a use permit.

The land is owned by the Marin County Redevleopment Agency.

COPENHAGEN (UPI) —Men of military age who refused to join the Danish army for religious, moral or other reasons totaled 2,668 in 1970. Most of them served their compulsory 16 months as foresters in special camps north of Copenhagen.

Marin County Planning Commission also:

SEASHORE — Postponed action on federal plans for the Point Reyes National Seashore until the committee which is studying the National Park Service's master plan for the area submits a completed report.

POSTPONED — Continued until Sept. 27 a hearing to rezone 10.6 acres west of North San Pedro Road, 700 feet north of its intersection with Lowell Avenue in Santa Venetia, from suburban agricultural to residential-multiple planned district.

FILL — Denied without prejudice the application of Henry H. Wilkins to fill 11.5 acres of tidelands west of Bolinas Lagoon, opposite Bolinas School. Permit was denied because Wilkins did not submit development plans and the planning staff could not make recommendations without plans.

HEARING — Set a hearing for Sept. 13 on inclusion of a slope policy in A-2 zoning requirements.

AGENDA — Placed on the agenda of the Sept. 13 meeting discussion of the Bolinas-Stinson Beach Master Plan at the request of Commissioner Margaret Azevedo.

The other day, they arrived. Dominic's is not easy to find, but as the Smith's will attest, it's really worth it when you get there. ALWAYS NOTED for his classical stylings with beautiful line, designer Pierre Balmain created these two dresses of knee-length for the Paris autumn and winter collection. They boast the perfect technique of bias cut with the use of chiffon delicately edged with South African ostrich feathers. The dresses are sapphire blue (left) and brown (right).

FASHION TURNABOUT

Mod Gear Out, Elegant Look In

PARIS (UPI) — For three years the more traditional fashion designers have tried to compromise with the "anti-clothes" revolution and borrow ideas from the youth who are more inspired by Katmandu, Chelsea and the flea market than Paris.

But this season the more conservative wing of the high fashion hierarchy decided to show the back of its hand to the far-out set and return to making their elegant clothes for the rich, older women who have always supported haute couture.

AND AS pace-setters for ready-to-wear styles that find their way into nearly every store in the U.S., they are putting American women back into classic clothes known as the "Civilized Look." Into "real clothes" and out of the mod gear.

Shorts, maxis, gypsy garb and hippie inspired outfits are out, the conservative Parisian designers insist.

"Let the young girls find what they want in the shops, they're not going to see it in the couture this season," said Marc Bohan, a conservative who is the chief designer for the House of Christian Dior. "That I-must-look-young-at-any-price idea is giving way to elegant classicism."

BUT IN the livelier quarters of the Paris fashion world other designers stuck to less conservative ideas. Andre Courreges showed shorts with matching coats or tunics and some midi length coats.

Yves St. Laurent sided with the far-out generation, continuing his World War II floozy look of wide shoulders, blazers, curley hair and snug waistlines. Wails of anguish after his spring show did not stop New York ready-to-wear manufacturers from copying his ideas, just as St. Laurent predicted they would. His fall collection has made a similar impact.

MOST OF the high fashion creators shamelessly backed down from their edict of last winter for long, long winter skirts.

Dior, Lanvin and Patou salons showed hemlines around the knee, a compromise length that may not please the younger set, which goes for the very long or very short lengths.

Fort Mason Is Scene Of Wedding

Randi Jean McKelvy and Martin F. Castano, both of Mill Valley, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday in a 10 a.m. ceremony at the chapel at Fort Mason in San Francisco.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Dexter M. McKelvy of Mill Valley and the late Mr. McKelvy, had as her maid of honor her sister, Linda C. McKelvy. Another sister, Diane L. McKelvy of Fort Worth, Tex., and Janet Jones of Santa Rosa were bridesmaids.

Thomas Collins of Mill Valley was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Frank F. Castano of Mill Valley. Two brothers, Larry and Stephen Castano of Mill Valley, served as ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Fort Mason Officers' Club, and the couple left afterward for a wedding trip to Yosemite. They will live in Mill Valley.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, the bride attended the College of Marin and is employed with the American Express Investment Management Co. in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed with Tilletts Union Service in Mill Valley. He has another brother, Michael Castano, and two sisters, Patty and Ruth Castano, all of Mill Valley.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

60th Anniversary Marked By Couple

By MOLLY MARIN

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Day of San Rafael was marked last night with a small dinner at the home of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Chapin A. Day of San Rafael. Among the guests were the honored couple's granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Belka of Walnut Creek and Vice. Adm. and Mrs. Theodore Ruddock of San Mateo. The Ruddocks' daughter is the wife of the Days' grandson, Chapin.

The Days were married Aug. 23, 1911, in Newago, Mich., and lived for many years in Utah and Alaska. The couple came to California in 1946 and have lived in Marin since 1956.

IT WAS AN idyllic sailing vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Witzel of Belvedere who cruised for 10 days in Canadian waters. "Mo" Witzel crewed on a Cal-40 yacht in a week-long race in the Broken Islands out of Vancouver. Other Marin men on the crew were George Jester and Rolfe Croker, both of San Rafael. Later the Witzels, accompanied by Canadian friends, cruised from Vancouver to Tacoma, where they left the boat to fly home.

MRS. RALPH NOAH of Tiburon and her daughter Gail are visiting Hawaii's outer islands on a two-week vacation trip to visit Mrs. Noah's son, Rex, who is an inhalation therapist at Wilcox Hospital on Kaui. Her daughter is Mrs. Mitchell Brown, a student at University of Nevada.

THE WILLIAM Woodingtons, now residents of San Felipe, Mexico, greeted old friends at the Belvedere Firemen's Ball at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere on Friday. Woodington, former Belvedere police chief, and his wife, are enjoying their leisurely life in the village on the Gulf of California, and find the fishing excellent. Recent visitors in San Felipe were Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Glazer, also former Belvedere residents. The retired dentist set up an informal clinic in his trailer and volunteered his services to villagers who have no resident dentist.

MR. AND MRS. Bernie Hardwicke of Belvedere are spending six months in Scandinavia. Friends expect them home in September.

Auxiliary To Nursery School Elects Slate

The newly-organized parents auxiliary for Belvedere Nursery School Corp. will be headed by Mrs. Barney Mills of Tiburon. The auxiliary will raise funds for Belvedere Nursery School and Hawthorne Nursery School in Tiburon.

The additional funds will augment library facilities, supply new play equipment and craft supplies, and contribute to the new Belvedere Nursery School's building fund.

PARENTS OF the two schools' pupils may join. Other officers have not yet been selected.

Margie Mills has also been appointed to the corporation's board of trustees. Other board members are Mmes. Robert Bastian, executive director; Richard Otter, president; William M. Hynes, vice president; Robert Flint, secretary; Gardner Baldwin, treasurer; John Dreyfous, Tom Uhry, Harry Brownson and John Lorenzen.

BARNEY MILLS, a salesman for PIA Merchandising Co., and his wife moved to Marin four years ago. Their children are Tracy, 4 and Wendy, 2.

Margie was born in Pasadena and reared in San Marino. She was graduated from University of California. The Marin Foundation, Tiburon Peninsula Club and Little Jim Club at Children's Hospital in San Francisco are her other interests.

Tasty Lipsticks

A London manufacturer has come up with a fall line of lipsticks with real taste. Chocolate flavored, they are called milk chocolate and plain chocolate and there are a group of matching brown-toned nail polishes and eye shadow sticks, reports Women's Wear Daily.

Cultivation Of Pearls — Long, Arduous Process

The cultivation of pearls is a long and arduous process and starts with the daily catch of oysters. Then small mother-of-pearl beads are inserted into the oysters, which then are placed into wire-mesh cages and suspended from floating rafts into the water.

After three years of constant care, cleaning of cages of plankton, moss, seaweed and barnacles, the oysters are taken out of their cages. Experts open them swiftly and remove the pearls. Only the better ones are retained for jewelry.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Pregnant Teenager Wishes Her State Had Liberalized Sex Laws

DEAR HELEN:

I am 17 and pregnant. I didn't want a baby this soon but, in our State, the only way a fellow under 18 can get married is if he "has to." We wanted to get married, so what else could we do?

Now I'll lose my education, because of a dumb law.

Another thing, in our County there is no sex education except on back roads, and of course unmarried people can't get any kind of contraceptives or advice. Naturally, I won't be able to attend high school after I start showing. We live in the uptight Bible Belt!

I think there should be liberalized laws all over the country, not just hit-and-miss in a few states. Why don't lawmakers catch up with the times? — PREGNANT BUT HAPPY

DEAR P BUT H:

. . . Because lawmakers don't like to stir up hornet's nests: Sponsoring liberalized sex laws can lead to defeat at election time. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Now that they have the 18-year-old serviceman and the 18-year-old voter, isn't it kind of silly to tell a guy he has to be 21 before he can buy a drink? Or get married without his parents' consent? —BUTCH

DEAR BUTCH:

I look for the time (and very soon) when the 18-year-old will be a legal adult — in all areas. What do you bet it will happen before 1975? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 13½ and my sister is 11. My big brother is 20 and, since Dad died, he's been acting like our father, with Mom's consent.

Last night he caught us hitching a ride. He was furious and so was Mom. They decided we needed drastic punishment, so he spanked us — hard, giving us the stupid line that it hurt him more than it did us. Mom is kind of sickly, so she gave the job to him, saying if she were healthy, his whacks would be love taps compared to what she would give us. I mean, they were really furious, Helen. Besides, they grounded us for the rest of the summer. And I'll STILL hitch if I need a ride!

I think that was much too much, as everybody hitchhikes nowadays, and nobody gets spanked any more. Mom says any parent would get that tough if she caught her daughters "thumbing" at night. She never misses your column, so please help me out. — C AND B

DEAR C AND B:

First question: What were 13- and 11-year-olds doing out on the street alone at night? That's one for your mother to answer!

Second question: Just what would you do if the "nice guys" who picked you up kept on going?

Inasmuch as spanking evidently didn't teach you caution, I'll add a third question — to your brother: Why don't you tell these two dumb little kids what can happen — and how awful you and your mother would feel if it did, because you love them very much? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Group Seeks Funds For Center

By BARBARA HOSMER

Organizers of the proposed Fairfax-San Anselmo Children's Center are renewing their drive for endorsement by community groups with an eye toward getting funding to open the child care center.

A grass roots project initiated by women welfare recipients and joined by interested community groups, the children's center would serve as a pilot project for Marin child care information as well as serve the immediate need for a child care center in the Fairfax-San Anselmo area, the committee said.

The concept is to serve 30 children between the ages of six months and six years as family groups. They would be from the San Anselmo-Fairfax area and its vicinity.

ETHEL SEIDERMAN and Susan Carpenter, both of San Anselmo, who are members of the interim board of governors for the children's center, said that the board has applied to United Bay Area Crusade for funding, but that approval has not come yet and monies must be raised in the community of Marin as well.

Mrs. Seiderman said that added donations are needed as "seed money" to operate while obtaining the $88,120 the board has estimated will be needed to operate the center for a year.

"We hope somebody will come across or we'll have to go the route of rummage sales" to cover such as the printing and mailing costs, Mrs. Seiderman said.

Wide community endorsements from groups throughout Marin, they believe, will help interest the Board of Supervisors and other county agencies in funding assistance.

THE CHILDREN'S center concept as proposed by the board includes:

All day or part-day care for whole families of young children of low-income families of some economic variation;

Parent control of policy and participation in the center;

A licensed day care home to provide respite for individual children who tire of being with the whole group day after day;

To provide children with learning opportunities and a variety of activities for social and emotional development;

A full-time staff of teachers and aides and a director;

Availability of infant day care at the center as a special phase of the program; keeping families together;

A professional advisory committee to help families function as strong units, meeting medical, counseling, legal, job placement and emergency aid needs through direct service or referral;

A teaching-learning center; and observation laboratory for professionals;

A specialized program for care of the child who is moderately ill, so that his parent need not leave a job to care for him and lose needed salary.

THE NUCLEUS of the project includes Mrs. Seiderman, a day care professional who has been working with Head Start in San Francisco and is now director of the new infant day care center at the Florence Crittenton Home in San Francisco (a pilot program in the state) and Mrs. Carpenter, who is one of the four AFDC mothers who originated the self-help idea of a child care center last fall. She has worked through a series of meetings, including a community meeting and panel at the College of Marin last February of a coalition of Marin groups interested in the county's child care needs.

Others who have planned and worked to gain support for the center are Dr. Joan Kelley and Dorothy Leake of the Marin Association for Mental Health, Gail Theller of the Economic Opportunity Council, Teddy Robertson of the Marin Chapter of the National Organization for Women, Karen Willets and Donna Huckins.

ALSO ONA HALL of the county Department of Public Social Service and Georgette Vilas of the Family and Children's Advisory Committee of DPSS, Bettt Presley, DPSS director, has offered advice and help also.

Mrs. Carpenter said that Catholic Social Service Agency of Marin has agreed to act as fiscal agent for the project, and CSSA and the Family Service Agency of Marin have discussed providing a social worker and children's therapist as a part of the professional resource committee.

Others lending crucial support, said Mrs. Seiderman, have been the National Council of Jewish Women, Marin Chapter of NOW, Marin Association for Mental Health, staff of the San Anselmo Community Action Center, the Volunteer Bureau of Marin, Marin County Probation Department, San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department, the San Anselmo School District and Dr. Jared Sharon, director of adult education at the College of Marin, who suggested training programs linking the college with the child center for classroom and field work.

THE BOARD has scouted a possible location for the children's center, — "a big house would be ideal or church or school buildings that have facilities" — but, Mrs. Seiderman emphasized, "talking about a house is unreal until you have the bread in your hand."

Funding is the major problem the project faces now, the women said, adding that small funds raised by community groups from coffee and doughnuts sales or whatever are needed right along with major funding for the total program.

"I'm optimistic," Mrs. Seiderman said. "There will be a center," Mrs. Carpenter emphasized.

The board has applied to Legal Aid for incorporation. And the members hopes to become a child care resource committee for the whole County of Marin.

THE ALUMNAE

"Cheer up. Experts predict that if present population trends continue, we'll each have a yard of space by 1981."

The reception was given at the Deer Park Villa, in Fairfax.

Color Of Pearls

Oysters create pearls in many colors from creamy white to lustrous gold. The difference in color comes from such variables as water temperature, and available food sources. Gold-toned pearls are regaining popularity, and gray pearls, in green or blue undertones look well with simple tailored clothes.

The Most Common Causes Of Dandruff

Improper shampooing, faulty diet, lack of sufficient rest, nervous tension and bacterial infecton are among the causes of dandruff. But, accordng to the Medical and Pharmaceutical Information Bureau, the most important factor is the overproduction of sebum or oily wax.

Medicated shampoos help keep dandruff under control. Combs and brushes must be kept scruplously clean. Rest, fresh air and exercise contribute to good health in general, and have been found to help control dandruff, too.

Marinite Is Picked As Rangerette

Gidget Gragg of San Rafael has been selected to be a member of the famed Kilgore College (Tex.) Rangerettes, after two weeks of intensive tryouts ending last week.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs John W. Gragg of San Rafael traveled to Texas with their daughter. Gidget was one of 32 selected out of 150 girls who applied for the precision dance and drill corps, and during the two weeks of pre-training and selection the girls were filmed by a CBS television crew for an upcoming segment of the show "Sixty Minutes."

Gidget was selected at the final tryout night Friday.

Classic Look Back; Real Jewelry Again

This fall the classic look is back. To accent the current silhouette, real jewelry is again in vogue and cultured pearls are appropriate for chic, understated clothes.

In sizes ranging from tiny seed pearls to the eight milimeter size, pearls complete a costume. One, two or three strand chokers, a current fashion favorite, are being worn over evening turtleneck blouses or above a plunging decollete.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Elegance Idea Oversold By Trade People

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

A few weeks ago I moderated a panel of representatives in the home furnishings field. Three women spoke for the consumers, two men represented the manufacturers, two other males spoke for the retail merchants and department store operations.

One thing struck me about the consumer points of view. Invariably, the women used the term elegance to describe traditional furnishings.

I couldn't help thinking, and commenting, that the concept of elegant living had nothing to do with the style or period of design. Surely one shouldn't think one can achieve elegance just by purchasing expensive, richly upholstered chairs and sofas? Or by owning dozens of superb antiques and paintings?

AND MY SECOND chain of thought made me ask: Why does anyone want to look or be elegant?

Perhaps the trade, shelter magazines, fashion magazines and newspapers have oversold the idea of elegance as essential to conducting the good life as lived by the beautiful people. But it is truly a false standard to set up when one is furnishing a home for family use and comfort.

In my book, the meaning of the word elegant would cover a basic refinement in detail. Nothing too fussy or contrived. And using those standards, I find it easier to see a quality of elegance in good contemporary design than in much of the so-called traditional furnishings where decoration is added for visual titilation.

Window openings are straightforward in design. Casement curtains are designed to do one job. They screen out some of the warmer rays of the sun, while permitting light and some impression of the garden to come through.

It's a room designed for all seasons. The fine hardwood on the walls and table gives a feeling of natural warmth to the room, even when there's snow outside. During the summer their smooth surfaces reflect light, and their easy maintenance lets the owner spend more available time on leisure activities.

So if, as I contend, true elegance is more an appropriateness, a simplicity of detail, this room speaks for that kind of elegance. But even so there's no need to work at being elegant. If a room is right for the purpose you make of it, you can forget the labels and just enjoy.

Psoriasis: One Of Common Skin Disorders

Psoriasis is one of the five most common skin disorders seen by dermatolooists in the winter months, according to the Medical and Pharmaceutical Informaton Bureau. It afflicts an estimated four to six million Americans.

The majority of the more than 2,000 patients interviewed by a group of dermatologists, revealed that hot weather and sunlight made their psoriasis better. Almost half reported a reappearance at times of worry. Fifty per cent of the women in the study reported that pregnancy improved their skin condition.

A Lesson For All In Prison Tragedy

Five men died at San Quentin Saturday because there no longer is security, even in prisons.

There no longer is security in prisons because we — the people, and the lawmakers, courts and attorneys who reflect the thinking and the pressures of the people — have forgotten what prisons are all about.

We have had so much concern for the "rights" of the inmates that we have forgotten that protection from violence is among those rights — and that in a penitentiary, filled with men who would not be there if they had not proved antisocial or dangerous, such protection requires extreme safeguards.

WE HAVE FORGOTTEN that the men in prison are there because they cannot be trusted in open society, and that therefore it is impossible to permit an open society in the prison.

We have forgotten that the same security measures that protect society from them — the grim walls, with riflemen atop them; the bars; the double-locks; the restrictions on visitors; the searches of prisoners and their callers — also protect the prisoners from one another.

We have forgotten that the men assigned to guard the prisoners — who must be guarded for their own protection — are themselves entitled to protection.

And so our blind forgetfulness has caused us to whittle away the security, until five men died violently, horribly, within the prison walls just outside the city limits of San Rafael.

We — the public, the lawmakers, the courts, and the attorneys who are sworn officers of the courts — have deluded ourselves that we were protecting the felons' "rights."

WHAT HAPPENED at San Quentin showed that we have protected only one "right": the right to die — to die violently, horribly, senselessly in the place set up for their protection and the protection of society.

Prisons cannot be pleasant places. Prisons cannot be open societies. To pretend they can is nonsense. And to pretend they should be is greater nonsense. One of their purposes is to lock away dangerous men so that the rest of us may live in security.

In an institution housing dangerous men, there will be foulness and violence. The criminal does not cease to be a criminal because he is placed behind walls and bars. And tight security is necessary to keep the foulness and violence to a minimum.

THE ROLE OF ATTORNEYS in the perversion that has robbed our prisons of security is especially deplorable.

Attorneys are sworn officers of the courts. They ostensibly are dedicated to preserving the delicate, intricate system of controls which protects freedom from exploding into anarchy.

Yet some of them have used the legal processes themselves to undermine and weaken the structure. Their number is few. But the whole legal profession must share blame for allowing those few to continue the practice in defiance of the laws they are sworn to uphold.

We are all to blame, in a way, for what happened Saturday at San Quentin. But most to blame are those who make the laws, those who administer the laws, and those who, being charged with making the laws work, have instead perverted them to the uses of anarchy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

California Banks Not Like Others

I've enclosed a column about banking services carried in Friday's Independent-Journal. Some of Treesa Drury's points need rebutting, because they refer to the activities of non-California banks without making the distinction that California banks are different.

For example, Christmas Club savers at Crocker — and at most California banks — receive the same interest as do regular passbook savers. Currently, that rate is 4-½ per cent. It is true that some eastern banks are able to attract Christmas Club deposits although they pay little or no interest on them.

Also, the only California bank to offer gifts for deposits was located in Southern California. It is not a major bank, and I believe it has discontinued the practice of gifting depositors. In fact, I believe the gift-giving mania has passed, even in the East and Mid-West where it was most prevalent. In any case, it certainly isn't the latest advertising gimmick.

While we are not particularly up in arms about this column's contents, we did want to point out that it did not present accurate information for its audience — the California consumer.

Pentagon Papers Show Ideological Blindness

I am now reading a paper-back edition of the "Pentagon Papers" and find them quite disturbing, not for the deception and lying they expose, but for a far more serious reason.

It has been a commonplace for years that one great danger to world peace has been the fact that the Marxist nations are so befuddled by ideology that half the time they are "flying blind" in their national policies, even at the expense of their own self-interest at times.

A consistent thread that runs through these documents for almost 20 years is the idea that American security is at stake in Vietnam and if that country goes, all of Asia and the Pacific follows. This point of view seems dubious at best, but valid or not, it certainly should have been examined and questioned periodically in view of the changing circumstances over the years.

In short the real danger and problem exposed by these papers is that not only are the Marxist countries out of contact with reality due to ideological blindness, so are we.

How can there be any hope for rational policies (which is the world's only hope for peace) if this foolishness continues on both sides?

Why Pathologist Imported From Austria?

I wonder if attorney Graves would be so free with his client's money, if Ruchell Magee were paying all expenses. The shock of the possible exhumation of Judge Haley was compounded by the report that Ernest L. Graves, court-appointed attorney for Magee, would have a Vienna, Austria, pathologist perform another autopsy.

The taxpayers of Marin are already paying through the teeth for this whole mess, but to bring a pathologist from Austria is absurd!

My only hope now is that the request for exhumation is denied. Ruchell Magee has tried the patience of both the courts and the public with his many delays. He and his attorney are making a mockery of justice, of which he has received more than his share.

U.S. Economic Moves Hurt Relations With Japan

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A measure deteriorating relations between the United States and Japan may be drawn from increasing comparative references to Pearl Harbor.

An American businessman may use it in a discussion of Japan's mammoth trade advantage in dealings with the United States.

A Japanese may use it in melancholy reference to a mounting wall of misunderstandings and suspicion.

THAT THE TRAGIC events of 30 years ago should now be recalled between the two nations that have become the chief guardians of peace in the Pacific is in itself a warning signal to both.

Japan, as the world's third greatest economic power, has been remarkably insensitive to United States problems brought on by a stumbling economy and mounting unemployment.

On the other hand the United States showed little regard for the government of Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato when with virtually no warning at all it suddenly announced President Nixon's plan to visit Peking sometime between now and next May.

A second unpleasant surprise came in the announcement of the new economic program permitting the U.S. dollar to "float" and erecting a 10 per cent surtax wall against foreign imports.

THE FIRST ACTION could cost Sato his job. It gave new voice to powerful forces in Japan long in favor of closer ties to the Chinese mainland and undercut Sato who had given unswerving support to the previous U.S. policy favoring the Formosa government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Further hampering any effort Sato might make to realign his China policy is Red Chinese opposition to him arising from his family's previous interests in one-time Japanese-occupied Manchuria.

On the economic side is the still unsettled question of Japanese textile exports to the United States and attempts by the Japanese government to work out a system of voluntary cutbacks by an industry largely independent of government influence.

A Japanese promise to work out an eight-point program of liberalization of its trade policies so far has met with indifferent success, mostly because of opposition within Japanese industry.

WHILE JAPAN expected some U.S. action to bolster the economy, the severity of the Nixon program came as a surprise. In the first two days after the president's announcement, the bank of Japan put out around $1.5 billion in support of the U.S. dollar.

Official estimates placed the cost of U.S. surcharges to Japan at $2.5 billion or more.

New problems lay ahead. One concerned anticipated new pressures from European Common Market countries that Japan revalue its currency upward.

Another was next month's scheduled cabinet-level meeting in Washington to discuss economic problems to which new issues have been added.

And of immediate concern to both the United States and Japan were the obvious efforts of Red China to drive a wedge between them.

Basic Reason For Publishing Reports Of Court Proceedings

(Reprinted from Albany (Ore.) Democrat-Herald)

Newspapers do not publish records of the various courts to punish people, as a letter-to-the-editor writer . . . wonders. Nor do we do it to hurt his family or provide gossip.

Strange as it may seem, we do it to protect the public. We do it to insure that no police officer or member of the judiciary can lock up an accused person and throw the key away. We do it to insure that there is no favoritism in court cases. The fellow who is fined $300 for driving while under the influence is going to wonder quite loudly if the town's leading citizen is fined only $50 on the same charge.

We don't accuse our police officers or judiciary of anything untoward. For the most part they are not only upstanding citizens, but outstanding in their fields. And they are honest. That doesn't mean that all policemen and judges everywhere are honest. Some of these people are as warped as the rest of us.

The publishing of court records, the daily perusal of arrest reports by our reporters is the only access the public has to these activities. Without that perusal, a person could be locked up forever and nobody would be the wiser. We don't want that.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nixon May Be Facing Trouble In Home State Of California

SAN FRANCISCO — This most-populous state in the union has to end up in the Nixon column next year if the President is to be re-elected. But something strange is happening in what was once the Golden Magnet of the Pacific slope, drawing hundreds of thousands from the Midwest and the Southwest to the land of promise.

People are leaving the state in such numbers that the exodus exceeds the in-migration for the first time in years. A careful, analytical article in the Wall Street Journal recently rocked the complacency of the developers who believe the bonanza would go on forever. The exodus from Los Angeles amounts to 35,000 people a year — the reasons being smog, earthquakes, unemployment and the increasing dominance of the blacks.

The unemployment rate in California is 7.2 per cent. About a point and a half higher than the national average. A few thousand jobs in the aerospace industry may have been saved by the squeak vote on the Lockheed guarantee which the Nixon administration put over with an intense lobbying drive.

WHAT THE NIXON program will mean in jobs in cities such as San Francisco, where imports and exports are so important, is questionable. A seven-week dock strike has had a serious effect on San Francisco's economy. In Southern California Japanese cars have taken 35 per cent of the nation's biggest car-buying market in the first half of 1971. The far-reaching thrust of the Nixon program will mean painful adjustments.

Odd things are happening in Orange County, that seat of undiluted Birchism. George Brokate, a Marine veteran of two combat tours in Vietnam, turned up at a meeting of the Republican Central Committee of Orange County to denounce the President as just another tricky politician who had sold out the freedom of hundreds of millions to atheistic communism. At the height of his denunciation he held up a plaque given him for having been the largest contributor to the Nixon campaign in 1968 and hurled it into a convenient garbage pail. While some committee members walked out, about 30 gave him a standing ovation.

Here recently for a meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, George Meany looked dourly on the Nixon mission to Peking. The council heard Sen. Henry (Scoop) Jackson, whose presidential campaign is more visible every day, and gave him long, loud cheers. Jackson is determined to prove that he can outhawk any Republican on Vietnam, China, or the military budget.

STILL ANOTHER reason why Californians may be voting with their feet as they leave the state is taxation. For all the rhetoric about cutting costs and reforming the welfare rolls, Gov. Ronald Reagan faces in his second term the same problems that confront virtually all governors. Rising costs and the demand for ever more highways and other services spell higher taxes.

Reagan came into office promising to cut taxes and introduce business reforms. He had to ask an additional $1 billion in new taxes. While the welfare rolls have been pared and benefits squeezed to a minimum, he told the legislature the other day that he would need close to another $350 million in taxes to foot the bill.

As for the President in his handsome retreat far to the south of San Clemente, he can enjoy the same seclusion as his rich neighbors in this state with its generous supply of the very rich. Miles of the Pacific coastline to the south are walled off with those forbidding signs reading "private property — positively no trespassing" and, sometimes for good measure, "beware of the dog."

Whether the Nixon presence causes Californians to burst with patriotic pride is questionable. It may come back to their own allegiance to the state that was always to be the biggest, the best, the sunniest, the happiest, the kookiest. A recent survey by the California Poll found one out of three Californians wanting to leave. They may not know where they want to go but they've had enough of smog, freeways, boxlike subdivisions baking in the sun.

More than most Californians admit, the earthquake threat may be a factor. What happened in Los Angeles in February was for many the handwriting on the wall. San Francisco sits on the San Andreas fault, which could at any time produce a major shift in the earth like that of 1906. Yet the forest of skyscrapers multiplies year after year, changing the character of what was once a glowing white city content on its hills. It has been an extraordinary experiment, this California, this melting pot of Chicanos, blacks, Chinese who failed to melt with violent consequences.

CAPITOL REPORT

Welfare 'Reform' Keeps Same Old System Intact

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — Well, they passed a welfare reform package. With all the back-slapping and laughing and scratching you would have thought they had just invented the wheel.

Now I don't mean to deprecate all that hard work done at the capitol. Governor Reagan and the legislators and staff aides gave it a real go. Give them their due. For a year or so state and local governments may be able to live within their budgets.

They came up with quite a few changes in the system. Tightening loopholes. Going after absent fathers. Cracking down on the cheats. Curtailing expenses. Increasing aid to dependent children. All to the good. And, all past due.

But, mostly bandaids on the cancer. Certainly not radical surgery.

WHEN YOU STRIP away the superlatives and the press agentry, there it is: the same basic welfare system. They kept the same old system, the one that has failed so miserably.

Two years — three years — from now welfare will still be a problem and welfare reform will again be an issue. Why? Because welfare is a symptom and the root causes of welfare are still there, untouched and, for the most part, unapproached.

Take poverty, for example: poverty which stems from a lack of jobs, a lack of education, and a lack of motivation, poverty which spawns poor health and poor housing. Poverty is the root of welfare.

If you are going to do anything about welfare you have to do something about poverty. And, the big answer to poverty is jobs. Not public trough jobs. Productive jobs, in factories and stores and shops and offices. That is the key.

THE STRONGEST attack on poverty may come from President Nixon's program for economic revival. It can generate jobs. State politicians who want to get at the root of poverty and welfare would do well to get on with an all-out program for California's economic revival.

They could start when they return from their recess. For one thing both the executive and legislative branches could work to improve the business climate. This has been one of the most sadly neglected areas of California's economy for years. As a result, and with the decline of the aerospace industry, we are basically a one-industry state: agriculture — and mighty Cesar Chavez and his UFWOC legions are close to having that by the throat.

The legislators could open up jobs for thousands of welfare women and teenagers by releasing them from the bondage of the minimum wage. As it is now, minimum wage most often means no wage at all. Then they could, if they had any guts, take on the union monopolies and free up apprenticeship programs and low-level entry jobs.

Education is just not giving disadvantaged youth the basics and the skills needed to get a job. The fellow who can't read or write or add or subtract is likely to end up on welfare. And, there goes another generation.

TALK ABOUT priorities! In San Francisco they say they will have to bus at least half of the 46,000 school kids to comply with federal integration orders. Wasting millions of dollars to turn schools into sociological bus stops is insanity. The money could far better be spent to upgrade the schools where the students live.

Finally there is a need to overhaul the whole miserable welfare system. Get government out of the day-to-day operation of welfare, and pull it back to a minimum of proper controls. Government has a way of turning problems into perpetual programs — at taxpayer expense.

Today in California some 35,000 bureaucrats earn a living in the welfare system. If anyone should be doing that it's the people on welfare; it could be their first step up and out.

The Great, Long Debate On How To Shorten Meetings

Things haven't been the same since the night the clock struck midnight and the Novato City Council disappeared.

The city fathers were sitting there jabbering away when they went up in a cloud of hot air, leaving only their nameplates behind them.

The disaster wasn't unexpected to observers of the council, who had long predicted it its way past 1 a.m.

who had long predicted it couldn't go on forever talking its way past 1 a.m.

IRONICALLY, A WEEK before the massive puff-out, councilmen had a strategy session to shorten meetings, as recorded in the following minutes:

Mayor — Gentlemen, there's been some comment from residents that our meetings are running too long.

One — That may be, but it's a little insulting when they come with their bedrolls and alarm clocks.

Two — Don't knock it. I wouldn't have gotten to work on time the next day if it hadn't been for that guy with the clock radio.

Three — I think we could cut the meetings quite a bit if we limited comment from the public, especially criticism.

ONE — HOW ABOUT cutting out the recesses?

Two — Are you kidding? That's when my constituents tell me how to vote.

Mayor — Perhaps we could limit some of our comments.

One — Impossible. How are my supporters to know how I stand unless I express myself? I think everyone is entitled to hear my opinion.

Mayor — The last time I tried to cut off discussion, we debated that for 40 minutes.

Three — Let's call the League of California Cities and find out the length of meetings in comparable cities, and we can base ours on the median.

ONE — I DON'T THINK you can compare Novato with cities where councilmen aren't as articulate.

Two — Maybe we could get someone to sneak in and turn back the clock, so people wouldn't know how late it was.

Three — We thought about that, but the guy wanted time-and-a-half and we decided we couldn't trust him on his time card.

Four — I heard a group of residents is going to petition President Nixon to declare a time freeze on council meetings.

One — What are they asking?

City Attorney — I believe that's a violation of free speech, and contrary to our city policy that councilmen have the last word.

Two — I don't know about mdnight, but I know one thing. We've got to get out of here before 2 a.m.

One — Why?

ART BUCHWALD

Great News Stories That Somehow Didn't Make It

There were many great news stories that never made the papers. These were my favorites.

It was a cold winter's night in Secret Falls, when Patrolman Sean Morgan was cruising around in his car. Suddenly the radio barked, "Go to 107 Maple Street; a pregnant lady needs help."

Sean turned on his siren and at 80 miles an hour sped to the address. Waiting in front of the house was the nervous husband, who explained his wife was about to have a baby, but he couldn't get his car started and he didn't know what to do.

Sean said he would take the wife in his car, but the husband said it was too late. His wife had started giving birth to the baby in the house.

The patrolman rushed inside and shouted to the husband, "I want hot water, lots of hot water." The husband dashed into the kitchen and started heating up kettles while Sean went into the bedroom, took off his jacket and rolled up his sleeves.

In a few minutes the husband dashed in with the boiling water.

Sean smiled sickly and didn't say anything.

"Here's the water," the husband said. "What are you going to do with it?"

How the hell do I know?" Sean said, shrugging his shoulders, "I'm not a doctor."

CHARLES WEATHERSPOON hated abstract art and the cult that went with it. When he heard there was going to be an abstract art exhibition he submitted a painting done by a chimpanzee and then he waited to see the results.

The day of the judging arrived, and a group of distinguished art critics walked down the aisles, studying each painting.

Then they came to Weatherspoon's entry. They all stopped and stared and finally the silence was broken by James Corrigan, the greatest abstract-art expert in the United States, who said, "That's the lousiest abstract painted by a chimpanzee that I've ever seen."

MAJ. ROY McMULLEN, World War II ace, who was shot down in his fighter plane near the end of the war, was stationed in Germany in 1961 as commander of a squadron. One day he was visited by Friedrick von Ralston, a Luftwaffe fighter pilot who had been appointed liaison officer to Major McMullen's outfit.

The two started exchanging war stories and Von Ralston told of the day he shot down a P-38 over Stuttgart.

"I was shot down over Stuttgart," Major McMullen said, "on Nov. 12, 1944, in a P-38."

"That's the day I shot down the plane," Von Ralston said excitedly. "It was number 345."

"Then you shot me down," Major McMullen said.

"Yah," Von Ralston said, "it was me."

"Why you no good S.O.B.," Major McMullen said, and hit Von Ralston right in the teeth.

CHUCK WINTHROP, who weighed only 140 pounds, was too light to make the Wallaboo University football team, but he tried so hard that the coach took pity on him and let him suit up for every game, though he always kept him on the bench.

In the final game of the year against Wallaboo's archrivals, Gazonga Tech, Wallaboo's first-string quarterback was injured in the second quarter. In the final quarter, Wallaboo's second-string quarterback was also injured. Gazonga was leading 6-0.

The coach looked down the bench and his eyes met Chuck's.

"Please, coach," pleaded Chuck. 'My parents came 2,000 miles to see me play. Send me in."

The coach shook his head. "You're too light."

"It's my last year. Just let me play for a few minutes," Chuck cried.

The coach got up from the bench and walked over to Chuck. He put his hand on his shoulder and he said, "No, you're too light. We'll finish up the game without a quarterback."

And Wallaboo did. The final score was still 6-0.

24 Injured In Wild Panic Rush At Raceway

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI)—A hissing carbon dioxide cylinder used in a soft drink machine startled a group of fans at Roosevelt Raceway Monday night, causing a wild rush for the exits. At least 24 persons were injured.

Two workmen were tending the machine when the cylinder fell against a wall and began making the strange noise. When one workman began running, others heard the noise and started running, falling and stumbling over each other, police said.

One person was admitted to a hospital with coronary difficulties and 23 others were treated for injuries ranging from pulled backs to broken bones.

It was the second time in two weeks at the harness racing track that a strange sounding soda machine caused spectators to panic and injure themselves.

Inmate's Attorney Seeks Change In Venue; Cites Quentin Unrest

Violent events at San Quentin prison have made it impossible for San Quentin inmates to receive fair trials in Marin County, a San Rafael attorney charged yesterday.

G. Douglas Vaughn asked in Marin Superior Court for change of venue for the trial of an inmate he represents.

The convict, Louis N. Talamantes, serving a five-year-to-life sentence for two Los Angeles robberies, is accused of assaulting another prisoner in March 1970.

In papers filed in superior court, Vaughn said that Talamantes could not receive a fair trial in Marin because of "recent activities of violent nature in San Quentin, statements of public officials, pending trials in Superior Court of Marin County, newspaper publicity, feelings of the Marin community in general and other matters of notorious and inflammatory nature."

He did not specifically refer to Saturday's bloody escape attempt at San Quentin in which three guards and three inmates were killed, but he said he was unable to confer with his client because of the general lock-up at the prison since Saturday.

Talamantes's trial is scheduled to begin the week of Oct. 4.

It was set to begin in June, but was halted when the convict's previous attorney, Lawrence E. Weiss of San Rafael, was found in contempt of court when he walked out of Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's courtroom after the judge threatened to have Talamantes removed from the courtroom because he was interrupting the proceedings.

Vaughn was then appointed to replace Weiss, who was fined $500 and sentenced to five days in jail for the contempt action.

The change of venue motion will be heard in superior court Sept. 7.

County Master Plan Due Hearing

Marin County's new preliminary countywide master plan will be discussed by the Marin Alternative at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the multipurpose room at Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield.

The plan, released last week, cautioned that environmental qualities in the county were eroding, and that this slippage could continue without new controls on development.

Seven Inmates Stage Escape Through Vent

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Taking ropes fashioned from sheets, seven inmates escaped from the San Mateo County Jail Monday by crawling through narrow heat ducts and lowering themselves to the street.

Sheriff Captain Donald Harnett said the escapers broke a steel plate from the top of their cell block and got into the jail's ventilating system.

One of those missing was Bernard J. Mora, 36, a Sacramento man who was scheduled to go on trial today for the kidnapping and murder of a 17-year-old girl.

The other missing inmates were identified by police as Michael D. Loesch, 20; Douglas V. Lanko, 26; Jack E. Malone, 33; Willis J. Dorsey, 27; Willie Broussard, 29, and Douglas L. Sage, 23.

All were believed to be from San Francisco.

Sewage Plant Pollution On Control Panel Agenda

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Polluting sewage treatment plants, including several in Marin, will be earmarked for enforcement actions by the Regional Water Quality Control Board in its monthly meeting Thursday.

The board's all-day session begins at 9:30 a.m. in Room 123 of the State Department of Public Health Building, 2151 Berkeley Way.

The list of districts violating board requirements will be disclosed at the meeting. Enforcement actions against other Marin dischargers have resulted in construction bans, and can also include $6,000-a-day fines.

Also on the agenda are two requests for exemptions from the construction ban against the City of Mill Valley. They were filed by Franklin Collins and by the Pentalpha Corp., which wants to build multiple dwelling units on Camino Alto for 200 elderly persons.

The board also will consider the effects of dredging the San Francisco Bar.

Cambodia Leader Finishes U. S. Tour

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Sisowath Sirik Matak, Cambodia's acting prime minister, ended a tour Monday and flew to Honolulu, en route to Tokyo for an official state visit to Japan.

While in the United States, he held talks with President Nixon and other officials.

STAKE OUT AT THE FAIR

Phyllis Patterson and co-workers stake out spots for booths that will transform a Black Point site into the annual Renaissance Pleasure Faire. Mrs. Patterson is co-producer of the event, which features artists, entertainers and displays by craftsmen. The faire, to be located South of Highway 37 at the Atherton Avenue underpass, will run five weekends from Labor Day to Oct. 2.

Black Is Pushed For OEO Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Assistant Labor Secretary Arthur A. Fletcher said Tuesday several civil rights organizations are pushing him as the first black head of the federal war on poverty.

"I haven't pressed for it," Fletcher told UPI. "I'll just let nature take its course."

He said the groups touting him for the head of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) included the national Urban League and local branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). They are seeking also to have the job reinstated to its former cabinet-level status," he said.

The White House declined to comment on a published report that Fletcher was due to replace Frank C. Carlucci III as OEO director when Carlucci leaves Sept. 1 to become associate director of the powerful, new Office of Management and Budget.

But OEO sources said Fletcher's name is just one of several being discussed. The others include officials now in OEO and in the Health, Education and Welfare Department, they said.

Asked whether he wanted the job, Fletcher, 45, replied: "I'd have to sit down and talk to the powers that be and see what they have in mind."

Fletcher, who once lost a race for lieutenant governor of Washington state as a Republican, said the campaign on his behalf began when Carlucci announced he would leave.

But Fletcher, also a former pro football player, said he was satisfied with his present job as assistant labor secretary for workplace standards.

"I'm having a ball here," he said. "I have made the right people mad."

In his job, Fletcher administers efforts to increase minority group hiring by contractors through such orders as the controversial Philadelphia Plan which requires federal contractors to hire a certain percentage of minority group workers in each of the skilled construction unions.

In his job, Fletcher has had a running feud with AFL-CIO President George Meany, who claims the plans are arbitrary and unfair.

Under former Director Donald Rumsfeld, who preceded Carlucci, the OEO job held cabinet-level status. But there never has been a black OEO director, although its programs generally serve mostly Negroes.

Angry GIs Teach A Thief A Lesson

QUANG TRI COMBAT BASE, Vietnam (UPI)—A Vietnamese soldier caught driving a truckload of goods stolen from American troops was stripped to his undershorts and painted with tar by angry GIs who shot out the tires from his truck to stop him from escaping.

Vietnamese military authorities, their hands full with largescale Communist attacks against the nearby Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) defense line, said today charges will be laid against the alleged thief, an unidentified truck driver with South Vietnam's 1st Infantry Division.

U.S. commanders said an investigation is being made of the incident in which three Americans of the 101st Airbone Division are supposed to have meted out the "wild west justice." Their names and units were withheld.

Details of the story pieced together by UPI tell of increasing anger by the few remaining Americans at this base over widespread theft since South Vietnamese troops began moving in to replace U.S. forces withdrawn in the past six weeks.

A U.S. officer, suspicious of a Vietnamese truck near American barracks Monday, walked to the 3-4-ton vehicle and found it filled with "missing" property. The officer called over three Americans GIs to take custody of the truck driver while he went looking for the MPs.

The Vietnamese was dragged from the vehicle, stripped to his undershorts and painted with tar over all his body except his face. The GIs then smashed the truck windows and headlights, slashed the canvas hood and ripped out some of the wiring.

The MPs arrived and took the soldier to the U.S. 18th Surgical Hospital on the base where he was cleaned off with diesel fuel, treated for bruises and hospitalized although doctors said he's in good condition.

Meeting Off

A special meeting of the Reed School District Board, scheduled for 8 p.m. today, has been cancelled because of a lack of a quorum, Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello reported. A special closed session to discuss hiring of personnel, set for 7:40 p.m., also has been cancelled, he said.

Homestead Sets Tax Rate Hike

The Homestead Valley Sanitary District board last night set a tax rate of 47 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the current fiscal year.

Board secretary Gustaf F. Wolf attributed the increase of 15 cents over last year's rate to the need for more money to improve the district's sewage collection system.

In earlier budget deliberations board president James G. MacNichols said the increased tax rate would bring in about $30,500 in revenue which would also cover a $5,000 increase in sewer treatment charges by Mill Valley and an anticipated $6,000 drop in connecting fees caused by the building ban imposed on the area by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The board also allocated $3,000 to continue making smoke test corrections on its sewer system.

Lagunitas Trustees Nod To Pact

Trustees of the Lagunitas School District formally approved last night a contract with new Supt. William E. Johnson that calls for an annual salary of $18,500.

Johnson, 49, was named to the post earlier this month, replacing Joseph Amato, who resigned to take a job with the county schools office. Johnson formerly served as superintendent of the Keppel School District in San Bernardino.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

SALARIES — Said it would withhold step increments for employees pending a formal government ruling on whether they can be paid during the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze. Cost-of-living boosts definitely are affected.

SECURITY — Citing high cost and questioning the practicality of the program, rejected a bid by Nor-Cal Security to provide burglary protection for the district's two schools.

KINDERGARTEN — Heard a staff report that new kindergarten pupils would be "screened" for the first time in order to determine individual educational needs.

Opera Action Of Marin Sets Reviews

Opera Action of Marin has announced its fall schedule of opera previews. Four operas in the 1971 season of the San Francisco Opera, which starts on Sept. 10, will be previewed. All will be on Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

"Der Rosenkavalier" will be previewed on Sept. 16 by Stephanie Von Buchau, music and dance editor of San Francisco Magazine. Speight Jenkins, news editor of "Opera News" magazine in New York, will present a preview of "Die Meistersinger" on Sept. 30.

Harold David Rosenthal of London, England, author of several books on opera, will preview "Il Trovatore" on Oct. 14. The final preview will be of "Maria Stuarda" presented by Karen Monson, music critic of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner on Oct. 28.

Records, Libretti and tickets to Friday performances of operas previewed will be available at the previews, and refreshments will be served.

San Francisco Opera Action of Marin chairman is Mrs. Julio Davila of Kentfield. Tickets and reservations for previews are handled by Mrs. W. Remington Hodgson III of San Rafael.

W. Berlin To Keep Status Under Pact

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin will retain its status as a virtual state of West Germany under the new Big Four agreement designed to end the cold war in Berlin, Western diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

The sources conceded that the Soviets had gained their old demand for a limitation on such "demonstrative" West German political acts as meetings here of the West German cabinet, parliament and electoral college. But they said the new agreement provides for the first time a legal basis for the economic, financial, legal and cultural ties that bind West Berlin to West Germany.

Both the West German and West Berlin city governments have said there would be no need for "demonstrative" West German acts here if the Communists stopped questioning the basic ties that have grown up between West Berlin and West Germany since the two German nations were formed in 1949.

The draft agreement, the first accord in Berlin since the one that ended the 1948-1949 Soviet blockade, was announced Monday by the ambassadors of the four World War II allied nations after 17 months of negotiations. The four nations —Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States— administer the city.

The agreement provides for unimpeded access of German supply and passenger traffic to West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside East Germany, and for the opening of the Communist-built Berlin Wall to allow West Berliners to visit East Berlin.

There was some criticism of the agreement in West Berlin newspapers Tuesday, especially of the provision granting the Soviets the right to open a consulate in West Berlin.

"The Soviets have taken another important step toward the goal of making West Berlin an independent political entity," the newspaper Morgenpost said.

"On this point the conversion of the Four Power responsibility for all of Berlin into Four Power responsibility for West Berlin alone has become particularly clear," it said.

The newspaper also criticized the traffic agreement. It said the Russians had refused to "guarantee" West Berlin traffic and merely had agreed to accept responsibility for it with the Western Allies.

A Western Allied spokesman said the Big Four ambassadors probably would meet again next month to give the green light to the East and West Germans for talks to work out details of the agreement.

The spokesman said the ambassadors would initial the agreement after it has been approved by their governments and then authorize the East and West German talks.

Government approval was considered only a formality and was expected to be forthcoming early next month.

Sacramento Man Treated For Sprain

Mark Delle, 23, of Sacramento, was treated today at Marin General Hospital for a neck sprain received in an automobile accident, hospital officials reported.

Details of the accident were not available.

Bond Issue To Purchase Parks Eyed

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission agreed last night to give serious thought to a large bond issue to raise funds to buy land for a regional park and several neighborhood parks.

Recreation Director James Pekkain said the commission will devote a major part of its Sept. 13 meeting to the bond issue question. He said $315,000 must be raised to purchase land near the Rohnert Park Golf Course for the regional park and $357,000 for property for several neighborhood parks.

He told the commission that representatives of the state agency issuing land and water conservation grants had inspected the proposed regional park site in August and reported later that the city would qualify for grants and some matching funds.

Pekkain told the commission, however, that local funds must be assured in order to receive the grants and matching state funds.

In other action, the commission received a letter of resignation from Commissioner Nore Thiesfeld, who said he would be moving from Rohnert Park to Santa Rosa and would no longer be eligible to serve.

An Early Bird

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—A 1972 mercury Marquis Brougham was stolen from a dealer's lot in suburban Webster Monday. The cars officially go on sale to the public Sept. 16.

Man Held In Alleged Assault

Gregory Montgomery, 14, of 89 Jess Avenue, Petaluma, told police that he and a friend were walking along the Petaluma River near Second and B streets at 6:15 p.m. when a man struck him on the back and right leg with a large board.

Marquardt, who told police he had merely warned the boys to stay away from his fishing boat, was booked into city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

60 Days In Jail Given For Pot

Kevin Richard Stein, 23, of San Rafael, was sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for one year.

Stein was arrested last Dec. 12 while sitting on a San Rafael fence smoking a hand-rolled cigarette.

Removal Of Sand To Court?

Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted to ask for a court injunction to halt excavation of sand from Tom's Point on Tomales Bay until a hearing on the matter can be held.

The request was to go before the board of supervisors today for action.

The excavation of the shoreline directly across from Point Reyes National Seashore came to light when G. Richard Hicks, the owner of the land, told planners that James Hazen had ignored repeated stop-work orders from the county planning department.

Hazen's request for an excavation use permit was scheduled for public hearing yesterday, but he had requested a continuance until the next meeting.

"This is very pastoral type land. The damage that is being done cannot be undone in one, five or 20 years," he declared. Hicks told the commission that Hazen had had an agreement with the previous owner of the land to excavate the sand for topsoil blending and back-fill use for three to five years.

He said he recently put a lock and chain up on the gate, but Hazen "busted" them.

The commission then unanimously agreed to ask the supervisors to take legal action to stop Hazen until a hearing on the excavating could take place.

The request for an excavation use permit will come before planners Sept. 13.

86-Year-Old's Fondness For Common Rusted Junk

By STEVE SWENSON

And so it was recently that Meyer, a retired San Rafael businessman with a fondness for rusted junk, antiques and whatever old articles cross his path, bought a bewildering array of items snatched from the fire-ravaged Courthouse in San Rafael.

The salvage — shelving, desks, stairway railing, wire fence, a stainless steel counter and even a sink — now rests in a corner of Meyer's property at the end of Gary Place, San Rafael.

He bought the salvage two weeks ago from Ghilotti Bros. Inc., the San Rafael demolition firm tearing down the historic Courthouse. He did not disclose how much he paid.

Looking over the items the other day, Meyer of 12 Palm Avenue, beamed when asked the reason for his curious pastime. "It's a lot of fun," he said.

Although Meyer, far younger looking than his 86 years, has made handsome profits from the sale of items he has salvaged through the years, he said he does not intend to sell the material taken from the Courthouse.

Instead, Meyer said he will give most of the relics to his grandson, Gary Rache, owner of Boatland of Santa Rosa, to use for boat shelving, storage compartments and perimeter fence.

For himself, Meyer said he planned to keep an old-fashioned desk he described as an antique.

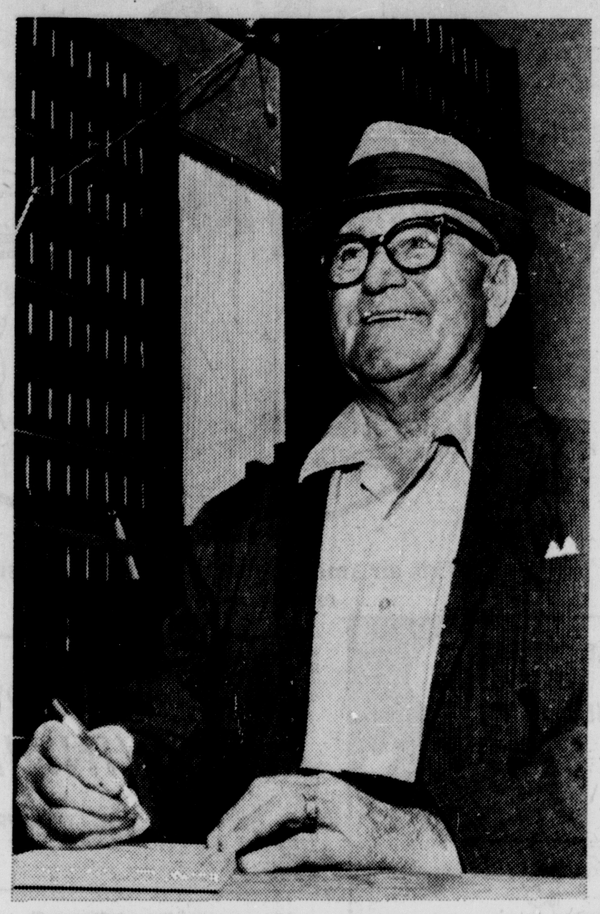
One of Meyer's purchases wasn't what he expected it to be; the railing he thought was brass turned out to be ordinary iron. Meyer wasn't too disappointed, though. He just laughed about it.

He said he enjoyed watching people looking for souvenirs at the courthouse. He told of a man who got excited about a trash can that Meyer told him was used in the late Judge Edward I. Butler's courtroom.

The man's eyes brightened and he quickly paid $1 for the can, Meyer said. He chuckled and said the man could have bought the same can down the street for 35 cents.

Meyer, a Marin resident for 50 years, said he was at the Courthouse when a $20 gold piece was cemented between the Doughboy statue and its pedestal. It was not found, however, when the statue was uprooted two weeks ago and taken to the Civic Center.

A scan of Meyer's collection looks as if he bought everything from the Courthouse including the kitchen sink, but he insisted he let a young man have a box of nude pictures found in the sheriff's office.



COURTHOUSE INVENTORY — Junk fancier Edmond Meyer of San Rafael pauses to beam heartily over his vast inventory of salvage from the old Courthouse in San Rafael. Meyer said he intends to give the relics to his grandson to use for his boating business.

Novatan Seized By Youth

A 16-year-old Novato girl was kidnapped by an unidentified young man last night and rescued by two musicians when a balky car thwarted the kidnapper.

Novato police said Jacqueline Annette Willey of 11 Lauren Avenue, was driving at Center Road and Tamalpais Avenue at about 11:15 p.m. when a youth, 17 to 19 years of age, popped up from the back seat of her car, reached around and held a hunting knife against her upper lip, causing a half-inch cut.

He apparently had entered the car while Miss Willey was shopping at Mayfair Market in the Novato Downtown Center, police said.

When she was cut, she screamed, and the youth told her he didn't mean to hurt her and had her stop to see how bad the cut was. He then forced her to drive out Hill Road to Indian Valley and Old Ranch roads.

The car stalled on a hill on Old Ranch Road, and during attempts to restart, the rear wheels went over the pavement and almost over a steep downgrade.

It was blocking the way of a car carrying two musicians, George Allen (Buddie) Miles, 23, of 155 Old Ranch Road, and Peter Brown, 26, of Los Angeles.

Miles and Brown went to the stalled car to see what was wrong and Brown decided to try to start it.

He told the youth to get a rock to put under the rear wheels and while the youth was gone, Miss Willey told Brown that she was being kidnapped.

The musicians told the suspect to "get out" and he fled on foot to Indian Valley Road, police said.

The suspect was described as from 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet 1 inch, about 145 pounds with brown hair and wearing a brown coat with a white collar, black shoes and dark pants.

Horses Due Shots As A Safety Check

All horses in Marin and Sonoma County must be vaccinated to prevent the spread of a fatal horse disease which recently has killed hundreds of Texas horses.

The compulsory vaccination, ordered by the U.S. and California departments of agriculture, will be administered free by eight Marin horse veterinarians, according to Dr. James Steere, Novato veterinarian.

In Sonoma, most large animal veterinarians will perform the vaccinations. Horse owners should contact the veterinarian in their vicinity.

The vaccination, a modified live virus, Steere said, gives horses longtime immunity from Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, the disease which has killed 1,800 horses in Texas.

Steere said there is no immediate danger of the disease spreading to Marin but the vaccinations have been ordered in all the southern states from Florida to California to form a buffer zone aimed at preventing the spread of the disease.

The veterinarians plan to vaccinate all Marin horses in a month long program. Starting tomorrow, horses in larger stables will be vaccinated, and in a week neighborhood clinics will be set up to handle the remaining horses in the county.

The doctors performing the vaccinations in Marin are Bruce Anderson and John Zimmerman of the West Marin Veterinary Clinic, Bruce Daniels, Robert Fisher and Eric Sharpnack of the West Marin Veterinary Center, both at Point Reyes Station; James Steere and Myron Hinrichs of Artaurus Vet in Novato, and Kip Smiley of Smiley's Veterinary Service in Petaluma.

The location of the neighborhood clinics which will run for two weeks has not been established yet, but more information is available by contacting the veterinarians.

The Texas epidemic has been the first instance of the disease spreading to the U.S. The disease has existed in South and Central America since 1936.

The disease which has a 90 per cent mortality rate to the horses it infects is communicable to humans, although its effect on humans is a flu sickness usually not fatal.

Several mosquito species carry the disease but Marin mosquito abatement officials said there are no mosquito carriers in the county.

Variance Appeal To City Council

The Sausalito Planning Commission's denial of a variance to reduce required lot size on 160 acres of land on Sausalito's Wolfback Ridge will be the subject of a public hearing before the Sausalito City Council at 8 p.m. today in City Hall.

Landowner Edward R. Fitzsimmons seeks to reduce the lot size required for development from the current 20,000 square feet to 8,000 square feet.

30 Days In Jail Given For Pot

Frank Daniel Meyer, 24, of Bolinas, was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail for possessing marijuana.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court sentenced Meyer who pleaded guilty to the charge Aug. 2.

Meyer was arrested June 29 after Marin drug agents went to look at his residence, which was for sale. In Meyer's garden, agents said, they found six rows of marijuana plants.

Single-Family Sewer Connections Assured

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night decided to insure that permits for some sewer connections will be reserved for single-family residences rather than give all the permits to multiple dwelling units.

The permits are scarce because the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board has curtailed sewer permits in the district until the district makes improvements on its sewer lines.

When the improvements are made, the water board upon approving the improvements will grant a limited number of permits. Of these limited number of permits, the board has assured that single family residences will be able to obtain some of them, but set no definite number or proportion.

District Mgr. Ralph Noah said that formerly permits would be routinely granted to multiple dwelling units, but now single family residences will be considered before all the permits are given out.

The district board decided to wait before buying earthquake insurance on its sewer lines until a poll could be taken of other Marin sanitary districts to determine their policy.

The board directed Noah to conduct the poll and report the results at the next meeting Sept. 7. Noah said the district has earthquake insurance on its plant, but not on the sewer lines.

Transit Panel To Be Studied

Formation of an industrial relations committee to deal with transit operations by the Golden Gate Bridge District will be considered by its rules and policy committee at 10 a.m. Thursday in toll plaza offices.

Also on the agenda is a proposed staff organization to run the bus system to start operating by December.

The full board of directors will meet at 10 a.m. Friday in the City Hall of St. Helena, Napa County. The finance-auditing committee will meet first at 9:30 a.m.

Otis Interior Post Still Up In Air

The appointment of a Ross man to a Department of the Interior post seems to have gone into limbo while officials decide whether he has a conflict of interest because of involvement with a ranch sought for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Webster G.Otis, 26-year-old executive vice president of the Larkspur firm, Land Investors Research, had gone to Washington last week to take up duties as a special assistant to John W. Larson, new assistant secretary of the Interior.

Larson, a fellow Ross resident, had announced the appointment of Otis earlier to the $30,000 a year post.

The Independent-Journal has learned that Otis was given an office and secretary in the capital and spent two days acquainting himself with his new duties.

However, when newspaper stories appeared describing Otis's small interest in the Pierce Ranch, now under condemnation proceedings for the park, he apparently was divested of both office and secretary.

Larson said yesterday that "these things take a lot of time in government" and added that if Otis received the appointment, "he'll undoubtedly call you."

Meanwhile, Otis has returned to Marin to await a decision. Otis has said he will divest himself of his interest in the ranch, which he estimated at less than 2 per cent, if appointed.

A condemnation suit filed by the government Friday in U. S. District Court indicated that the owners of the 2,500-acre property have set a $7 million price tag on it. The department reportedly offered a price near the $1,700,000 for the property by the owners.

Innocent Plea To Murder Charge

Jury trial was set for the week of Nov. 8.

Shipe was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury Aug. 10 on a charge he fatally shot his estranged wife on the steps of her Fairfax home July 13.

Engineers Reassure Hub On Creek Work

The Army Corps of Engineers today reassured San Anselmo officials that the Corte Madera Creek flood control project's Phase Four through Ross will not worsen the hub city's flood problems, despite an outside expert's predictions.

However, Col. Charles F. Roberts, the corps' district engineer, refused to bow to San Anselmo and Ross requests to design the work for less than a maximum flood — thus lowering the top of the future concrete walls on the creek.

Roberts also told the county supervisors and city officials that flooding of Ross Common and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard downstream had always been regarded as a local drainage problem since the Army first began studying the project 12 years ago.

Colonel Roberts spoke at a workshop called by the supervisors to clarify federal policies on alternative designs for flood control projects, including Novato Creek and the Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio in Mill Valley as well as the major Ross Valley project on Corte Madera Creek.

The Novato and Mill Valley projects are still in the talking stage; it may be years before construction begins, Roberts noted.

San Anselmo City Councilman James F. Reed asked whether Phase Four would not mean "three feet of water flooding us," citing that opinion by J. A. Harder, professor of hydraulics at the University of California.

Roberts told Reed that the Army design "doesn't change anything that doesn't happen to you now."

Roberts declared, "We are legally bound not to design anything that would have any deleterious effect."

"I will consider alternative approaches" for a flood control project, Roberts said, "but I will not change the design criteria for the Corte Madera Creek project."

He explained that the so-called "project design flood" for which the project is designed would be a flood so major that it might happen less than once in a century — possibly only once every two or three centuries.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. raised the complaint he has voiced repeatedly in recent months — that the Army should include drainage of the Ross Common and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in its project. "We're talking about half a million dollars as compared to $20 or $30 million for the whole creek — but you say it's a local problem," he said.

"The original document said it was a local problem 12 years ago," Roberts replied. There's nothing to stop you from going to the Department of Housing and Urban Development or other sources for federal sharing funds for the work," Roberts said.

Board Chairman Louis H. Baar and Supervisor John F. McInnis suggested the county work with Ross to obtain such funds.

Roberts noted changes in the laws controlling his office since the start of the Corte Madera Creek project. In Mill Valey and Novato, he said, the Army is willing to "do whatever you want" so long as costs do not exceed benefits.

Alternative design studies must be done in the preliminary planning stage, not after congress has approved drawings for a project, Roberts stressed.

The law does provide a 3 per cent allowance for improvement of a project's "aesthetic qualities" to some extent. In the Ross area, Roberts said, this could mean special wooden fencing alongside the concrete ditch, and treatment of the channel bottom to retain ponds during the dry season.

Open House For New School

An open house to introduce the Beginning School will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City, schools officials have announced.

The Beginning School, scheduled to open this fall, will have a racially and economically mixed staff and students, officials said.

Children between 3 and 5 years old may enroll. The faculty of the school will be available for questions at the open house.

Jury Studies What Funds Due Client

A Marin Superior Court Jury returned to the Hall of Justice today to determine damages to be paid by attorneys Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo and Vincent Hallinan of San Francisco to a former client.

The jury of five men and seven women found Saturday that the attorneys had committed "constructive" fraud and breach of contract in their dealings with the client, John S. Krysiak, a former San Mateo building contractor.

The jury ruled the attorneys had not committed two other charges: actual fraud and malpractice.

Constructive fraud is a situation where one person takes advantage of another by a breach of duty or by misleading the person, but it implies no fraudulent intent.

Shapiro, Hallinan and Hallinan's son, Patrick, who was also a defendant in the case, formerly practiced law together and their law firm represented Krysiak in a 1963 San Mateo County civil case.

Krysiak sued the attorneys for $850,000, charging that he received only $6,200 of what he said should have been an $80,000 settlement in the case.

He said he was an alcoholic and drug addict at the time of the case and said he was misled and misadvised by the attorneys.

The case went to the jury Friday after 25 trial days and it took the jury more than 15 hours of deliberation over two days to reach its verdicts.

Two Cars Stolen In San Rafael

Two cars were stolen in San Rafael over the weekend, police reported.

A 1959 Chevrolet, belonging to Audrey H. Richardson of 1732 Lincoln Avenue, Apt. 2, was taken between Aug. 15 and Friday from where she parked it at 34 Racquet Club Drive, she reported to police.

A 1971 Mazda, was taken between 6 p.m. Friday and 9:50 a.m. Saturday from the lot of Marin Mazda at 575 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported.

Delay Asked On Sewer Districts

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has been asked by the President of the Stinson Beach County Water District board to delay formation of two assessment districts that will help finance a sewage treatment system for Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

In a letter to the board, Hugh Dougherty said project planning was stalled because the federal Environmental Protection Agency wants to study the environment impact of the proposed system.

Dougherty said, however, the delay may be beneficial because it will give his agency time to study alternate plans.

The proposed project — a joint effort with the Bolinas Community Public Utility District — has been criticized by area residents because of its scope and fears treated sewage dumped into the mouth of Bolinas Lagoon will affect marine life.

Dougherty said his request to the supervisors is subject to ratification by the full Stinson Beach board Sept. 11.

Three-Mile Oil Slick

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A huge, heavy oil slick spread along nearly three miles of Carquinez Strait in San Francisco Bay today.

The Coast Guard said the oil —described as bunker fuel— extended along a stretch of the bay where a number of refineries are located.

It had not yet been determined where the oil came from or how much was spilled into the strait, which is in the northeast part of San Francisco Bay.

Operations were underataken immediately to confine the oil and clean it up. Pumping barges were dispatched, and booms were set to hold the oil.

The Coast Guard said the oil was reported around the docks of the Shell Oil Company, but extended also along the strait where Standard, and other major oil companies have installations.

On this day in history:

In 79 A.D., thousands of people were killed and the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum buried by the eruption of volcanic Mount Vesuvius in Italy.

In 1814 the British captured Washington, D.C., burning the capital building and the executive mansion.

Losers Ponder Question Of Defeat: Justice Or Bad Luck?

"Only a fool says in his heart that there iis no such thing as justice," Sherlock Holmes declared triumphantly to Dr. Watson as the two friends strolled to the bar of the Baker Street Bridge Club. Watson nodded gravely to coneal his bewilderment. They had just watched an unlucky fellow go down at a slam. Was this justice or merely bad luck?

FIRST TRICK

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts and led a trump for a finesse with the queen. West won with the king of spades, and East later took the setting trick with the jack of spades.

HONOR?

It's an honor, of course, to be watched by the keenest kibitzer of Christendom, but it's not an honor that you always enjoy.

It's always very unlucky to lose a finesse to a singleton king. Or did South misplay the hand? Decide for yourself before you read on.

JUSTICE SERVED

Justice was served when South went down. He deserved to lose.

Declarer should play dummy's jack of hearts at the first trick; and he ruffs when the queen appears. He then leads the queen of clubs for a finesse.

DOUBLETON KING

If this finesse should lose, South must later try a finesse with the queen of spades. The only chance is to find a doubleton king of spades in the East hand.

When the club finesse works, South can afford to lose on trump trick. His best play is to lead the ace of spades. When the king drops, South has no problem.

LIMIT TRUMP LOSS

If the king of spades did not drop, South would get to dummy with the ace of clubs to lead another trump. This would limit the trump loss to one trick if West started with any singleton or doubleton in trumps (or if East had the singleton king). If West started with three (or more) trumps headed by K-J or K-10, the hand is hopeless.

Trial Shows How Cairo Coup Failed

CAIRO (UPI)—It was supposed to have been a well-planned coup.

The plotters alerted three military units, completed plans for a disruption in the urban transportation system and briefed students and workers for quick street demonstrations of support.

This was the story that emerged from the 15,000-word indictment read out against 91 former officials accused of trying to oust President Anwar Sadat in May.

The three-man special "revolutionary court" conducting the trial in a converted auditorium is not likely to be overly lenient. One member is a personal adviser to Sadat and the other two depend on the President for their future careers.

The list of defendants is impressive for a coup that failed. It includes a former vice-president, seven cabinet ministers, the head of Egypt's only political party, the speaker of the national assembly, senior secret police officials and other prominent government figures. The list, however, omits one major element in Egypt's power structure. With the exception of former War Minister Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, it contains no significant military officers.

The exception appears to be the main reason that Sadat reamined in power and his opponents were in jail. He had the army's support and they did not. Arab coups seldom succeed without military backing.

Former Vice-President Aly Sabry, the plot's alleged mastermind, and his supporters learned this lesson May 13. Within hours after their men in the national radio station announced the cabinet crisis and began broadcasting military music most of the ringleaders were under house arrest.

Civilian police subsequently picked up more than 200 suspects, but kept only 129 after investigation. A final 38 prisoners were freed Sunday when the indictment against the 91 was read.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Diverticular Disease Common Colon Disorder; Diet Is Factor

Diverticula are small pockets that protrude into the wall of the large intestine. Victims of diverticulosis may have one or 100 or more of these tiny sacs. In economically-developed countries the condition has become the most common colon disorder, yet before World War I it was almost unheard of. We now believe our soft, low-fiber diets play an important role, not only in this disease, but also in polypi and colonic cancer.

DIVERTICULI develop along the weak spots in the wall of the intestine. Many are found where the artery pierces the wall. Local infection also has been blamed. Many sufferers have a long history of constipation and a high percentage are sedentary workers. Stastics have shown that the incidence of the disease increases after age 40.

Pressure within the colon is suspect. Many of the victims also have a spastic bowel due to the emotional and psychological tensions of civilized life. Soft, carbohydrate foods that lack bulk could play a prominent role, especially when they promote constipation which in turn leads to strong muscle contractions with increased internal pressure. Furthermore, the ensuing stagnation of the feces encourages infection.

SOME PHYSICIANS now recommend a dietary regimen rich in fruits, vegetables and meats. The swiftly-passed stool subjects the colon to less strain and does not favor diverticular development. The pockets seldom make a fuss unless the opening is blocked or the pocket becomes inflamed (diverticulitis). This leads to pain usually on the left side of the abdomen along with tenderness and fever. Antispasmodic drugs ease the cramping and antibiotics or sulfonamides control the infection.

A soft, bland diet is suggested if it brings relief but with the newer evidence on roughage, we see no reason to continue on low-residue foods.

SUNTAN PILLS

E. R. F. writes: I understand there are pills that enable a person to be exposed to the sun and not develop a burn. Where can these pills be purchased?

REPLY

The psoralens (methoxsalen) or Atabrine are prescription items that can be purchased at the drug store. Both of these products may produce serious side effects and are not recommended unless absolutely necessary.

SEASONAL BRONCHITIS

B.G. writes: I don't have many head colds but develop several attacks of bronchitis during the winter-spring season. Could this be due to allergy or to germs?

REPLY

Both are common causes of bronchitis but allergy is strongly suspected if the condition is seasonal. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

BLOOD TYPE

K. L. writes: Is type O blood better than the other type?

REPLY

New Status For 350 At Hamilton

Clearances for about 350 civilians, officers and enlisted men at Hamilton Air Force Base, who no longer need top secret clearances, will be downgraded to secret or eliminated, according to the base information office.

Asked if the move was the result of the theft of the Pentagon Papers, Capt. P. L. Delano said she didn't know, but that there had been speculation to that effect.

The order came from the Air Force chief of staff in Washington that all personnel who no longer need top security clearance for their job should lose it.

"The reason these clearances are being downgraded is because when these people first got their top secret clearance they were required for the job. But since that time the individuals may have changed jobs several times and now do not need the clearances anymore."

He said some people might be upset by the downgrading since "a top secret clearance is and has been a status symbol. You know most people like to have one."

Security police are in the process of downgrading the top secret clearances and individuals will be notified by their commanders or representatives.

Reagan Vow On Prison Violence

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Vowing that prison violence "will not be tolerated," Gov. Ronald Reagan has ordered state officials to take "whatever steps are necessary" to protect guards and inmates in California's troubled penitentiaries.

He heartily endorsed new get-tough measures announced by state corrections director Raymond K. Procunier.

From now on, the prison director said, "revolutionary-type" inmates will have less freedom, visitors will be more closely checked, tape recorders won't be carried in by visitors, underground newspapers advocating violence will be kept from inmates and more guards will be added.

Reagan, in a strongly worded statement Monday night, termed the killing of three San Quentin guards "savage and senseless" and said it resulted from "revolutionary elements in our society intent on extending their religion of violence, hate and murder to within the walls of our prisons ...

The governor, from his vacation retreat in Pacific Palisades, directed Procunier and state Human Relations Secretary James M. Hall to take "whatever steps are necessary to halt the violence and protect the lives of both correctional officers and inmates."

Procunier told reporters tighter security moves were under way even before Saturday's violence, in which one of the slain would-be prison escapees was black revolutionary George Jackson.

Asked whether any staff firings also were contemplated, the director replied, "No sir. Nobody could have done any better than that staff down there. Warden (Louis S.) Nelson is the best in the United States."

Procunier said starting immediately some inmates will be more restricted. An aide later elavorated they will lose such privileges as watching movies and attending classes at night.

The prison director said he was referring to "the type of person who carries on with a lot of revolutionary rhetoric. The people we're talking about don't consider they've got a problem. They believe society has a problem."

Procunier said there aren't enough guards for violence-prone cell blocks. "I'm going to get some more," he promised. "I'll find a way."

TV REVIEW

Charles Kuralt Discovers America

NEW YORK (UPI)—Every now and then the round, pleasant face of Charles Kuralt pops up on Walter Cronkite's CBS Evening News reporting on the affairs of mice and men from such back roads of this vast and diverse country as Cut-n-Shoot, Tex., or Hardscrabble Creek, Ore.

Kuralt has one of the dream assignments of television. Traveling in a truck with a camera crew of three he can go anywhere he wants in the continental United States looking for feature stories. Anchor man Cronkite is the highest paid man in TV news but the penalty is that hs is pinioned in the red-brick former dairy that houses the CBS current affairs crew.

The other day Kuralt was discovered in his office putting together a record of his journeyings for an hourlong documentary. "On the Road" which the network will broadcast as a CBS news Special Sept. 7 (10-11 pm EDT). He relived again in an interview some of the more fascinating moments of his four years of traveling off the beaten track.

"There were certain difficulties in stringing together a number of stories not intended to be strung together but I'm using the theme that in an age of plastics and conformity the individual can still flourish" he said.

example. He's a retired Michigan Superior Court Justice who wrote the book 'Anatomy of a Murder' and is now an avid trout fisherman. He thinks bigness is a curse so he spends his time fishing for trout — small trout — with a gossamer line. I found him in upper Michigan far away from the things he hates — big cities, big buildings, big cars and big highways.

"Then there's Ben K. Green who is still a horse trader in Texas — he gave me a lesson on how to buy and sell a horse. And George Black, a 92-year-old brickmaker from Winston Salem, N.C., who makes bricks with a mule-powered mud mill. There's Tiger Olson, an Alaska backwoodsman and wilderness philostpher, wyo laments the increasing population and Moses Walter who, for the past 40 years, has been singing hymns as he carries mail on muleback in Stella, Kentucky."

Kuralt said he and his crew have a list of features they travel to—and more arrive from viewers with every mail—but he prefers those stories they come upon by chance. "We may see some kids flying kites and do a story about kite flying," he said. Yet the day tnat lingers in his mind is a day when they filmed nothing.

It was on a back road in Wyoming and in some soft stone they found the ruts of the wagons that followed the old Oregon trail. Later, at an old road station, a dozen wild turkeys gobbled across the road.

"At the end of that day I congratulated myself," Kuralt said, "For being alive to enjoy it."

Politicians To Speak At Alternative Conference

Speakers will include Reps. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., San Mateo Republican challenging President Nixon's reelection, and Ronald V. Dellums, D-Seventh District, and former Los Angeles Congressman George E. Brown Jr., unsuccessful candidete last year for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

The all-day conference will open at 8:30 a.m. in the Fine Arts Theater. Registration is being handled by Marin Alternative, P. O. Box 655, Kentfield 94904.

Workshops will be held on education, women's liberation, the draft, fiscal crisis, peace, military justice, minorities, prison reform and the environment. The last will be divided into sections on water, planning and transportation.

Paul Brown Magic Rubs Off On Former Marin Star

The darlings of the Ohio River area last night surged past the Pittsburgh Steelers 20-13 in a National Football League exhibition game due in part to the heroics of Doug Dressler, a former protege of coach Dick Read at Marin.

The Reno native transferred into Tar territory, performing for the highly successful junior college coach in 1966 and 1967. While under the Read influence, Dressler developed into a crunching combination tight end-tackle. The then 6-foot-3, 220-pound athlete received second club Golden Valley Conference recognition as a pass catcher on the Tars' title team.

In addition to his grid exploits on the Marin campus, Dressler was an accomplished wrestler, winning conference heavyweight championships two years in a row. He was also a catcher on the baseball team and a water polo goalie.

Thus, when Dressler enrolled at Chico State, he was considered a highly valuable commodity. His reputation was apparently well deserved for he secured a Far Western Conference heavyweight wrestling crown and was again first string tight end.

His prowess on the gridiron and overall strength did not go unnoticed by the pros. Brown, the erstwhile head man for the Cleveland franchise bearing his name and present boss of the rising Bengal fortunes, discovered the lad's talents. He drafted the Marin graduate in 1970.

The Bengals subsequently bowed to the eventual World Champs, the Baltimore Colts, but, in the process, Brown knew he had a winning team — and a tough backup tight end for All-Pro Bob Trumpy.

However, this year, Brown decided that Dressler's abilities could be better used elsewhere, such as in the backfield. Again starting in the bottom of the pack, this time behind speedy Paul Robinson and Essex Johnson and burly fullback Jesse Phillips, Dressler displayed quickness and power in the first two Cincinnati pre-season contests this year. Both ended in Bengal victories, and, in each, Dressler showed vast potential in his extremely limited allotted playing time.

Like the team as a unit, Dressler's star is apparently on the rise; both points received further verification at the Steelers' expense as Trumpy latched onto a 10-yard scoring pass from starting signal caller Virgil Carter, like Brown — a retread from the National conference.

Paul Rogers kicked a pair of field goals for the Steelers and Terry Bradshaw plunged one-yard for a score after a fumble recovery on the Bengal 15 before the teams played to a stalemate in the final quarter.

Elsewhere in training camps, Joe Moore, the Chicago Bears' No. 1 draft choice from Missouri, suffered torn ligaments in his ankle and will be lost to the team for eight weeks. The Bears signed veteran running back Jim Grabowski, cut by Green Bay last week, to fill Moore's slot.

Quarterback Pete Liske, who suffered strained knee ligaments in a loss to Houston Saturday night, will be sidelined for three weeks. The Eagles have purchased Jim Ward from New Orleans as insurance. The Eagles sent cornerback Richard Harvey to the Saints.

Minnesota cut four players — veteran Wayne Meylan, Tim Sullivan, Tommy Walls and Ed Marsh and Green Bay dropped veteran kicker Karl Kremser. Los Angeles released Randy Vataha, the little pass receiver who starred in Stanford's upset of Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, and Billie Hayes while New England announced that linebacker Jerry Murtaugh, a rookie from Nebraska, will be out three months after knee surgery.

CHAMPION, DOWN, BUT JUST WAIT . . .

Bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares of Mexico goes down in the third round of a non-title contest at the Los Angeles Forum last night as referee Rudy Jordan leads Valentin Galeano of Paraguay to a neutral corner. Olivares climbed off the canvas to knockout Galeano in the ninth round. Story on page 32.

Juan Vs. Sadecki Tonight

They snapped a three-game losing string Monday night by holding on to edge New York 5-4, thanks to a fine relief job by Jerry Johnson.

Their 1-3 record over the past four days kept them 7 1-2 up on the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are not exactly surging in pursuit of the San Franciscans.

The Giants send Juan Marichal (12-9) out against exteammate Ray Sadecki (3-4) tonight with another big crowd a certainty. Last night's throng of over 42,000 put the Giants around the 1.5 million mark on the road.

The big crowd saw the Giants move ahead 5-0 after 5 1-2 with Bobby Bonds leading the way with his 24th homer of the campaign and a key double.

But the Mets rallied for four in the sixth as they knocked out Don Carrithers and then errors by reliever Johnson and Willie McCovey let in the fourth Met run.

But from there on, Johnson was the master as he hurled hitless ball to pick up his 14th save to go with his 12-5 record. Relief pitching was supposed to be a Giant weakness vis-a-vis the Dodgers this year and the performance of Johnson could well be the single most important improvement from the Giants' flop of 1970 to the division leadership of 1971.

Athletics' Dreams Turn To Playoffs

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI) —With a 16-game lead and life seemingly moving along at a slow but happy pace, Oakland A's manager Dick Williams already is thinking about the American League playoffs and the world series.

Monday night Chuck Dobson pitched so-so but hung around long enough, thanks to a couple of doubleplays, to pick up his 13th victory in 16 decisions, 8-2 over the New York Yankees. He wasn't all that happy with his performance and said he feels he has to prove himself between now and the end of the season in order to win a playoff and series starting spot.

"I feel it will be between me, John Odom and Diego Segui as the third man behind Vida Blue and Jim Hunter," said Dobson. "I haven't pitched all that well my last two times out and I'll nave to do better."

Dobson said he figures himself as No. 3 but "maybe the manager doesn't. That's why I have to do better."

Williams wouldn't commit himself about the playoffs except to say that Blue, who pitches tonight against Mel Stottlemyre of the Yankees, will work in the first playoff game and Hunter in the second.

"I'm thinking about the no 3 man," said Williams. "I'm not announcing now who it will be but I will say this, I have candidates in Dobson, Odom and Segui. I'll use only three pitchers in the playoffs and, if we survive, I'll have two fresh men for the start of the series."

Williams also said he feels he has better pitching than Baltimore, which undoubtedly will be the A's opponent in the playoffs.

"I think my staff is deeper in starters," said Williams.

"Also, I don't feel I have to come back with Blue without his normal rest if we should fall behind I have confidence in all five of my starters. At one time or another they all have been stoppers this year."

Tommy Davis, Angel Mangual and Dick Green each drove in a pair of runs. Davis accomplished his feat without getting a hit in four at-bats and he also scored twice. It all came while the veteran hit into four force plays.

The Yankees managed 12 hits, 11 off Dobson, but the doubleplays killed them. They stretched their scoreless inning string to 27 before pinch-hitter John Ellis drove in Gene Michael with a run in the seventh. By then The Yankees were behind 4-0.

Sal Bando, the A's captain, was hit just above the left elbow by Yankee rookie right-hander Terry in the seventh and went to the hospital for precautionary X-Rays, although his injury looked to be nothing more serious than a bruise. Bando definitely will sit out a couple of games.

A True Team Effort Makes Giants Unique

NEW YORK — What is it about the 1971 Giants that has kept them in first place since April 12 in a season long pennant drive? What makes the 1971 Giants different from the 1962 championship Giants? Or, for that matter, what makes the 1971 Giants different from any other pennant contender of the past decade, perhaps the past half century?

THE 1971 Giants are a unique ball club, yes, one of a kind. They've come as far as they have without one of their hitters being in the top 10 of National League batters, without one of their starting pitchers even close to being a 20-game winner, without a number of other things.

Pennant contenders of the past usually have been successful because individual players have enjoyed great seasons, pitchers have posted 20 wins. But nobody is having a great season at bat with the 1971 Giants, nobody is going to win 20 games.

HOWEVER, EVERYBODY on the 1971 Giants has made individual game-winning contributions this season — and that is what makes the 1971 Giants a unique ball club. Never has morale been higher on a ball club. Never has there been a more genuine feeling of mutual respect. Nobody feels that he has been on a free ride. Everybody, with bat, glove or pitching arm has earned his own way — made some positive contribution.

To be sure, some have contributed substantially more than others with bat, glove or arm. But the important thing is that everybody has chipped in an important hit there, a fielding gem there or saving strikeout in a sticky situation. It all adds up to the kind of team spirit that all clubs seek but few ever find.

THE SEASON started like so many in the past with the team's big stars dominating the action. Willie Mays hit four homers, one grand slam, in the first four games. Juan Marichal breezed to a 3-0 record, including two shutouts, in his first three games. Gaylord Perry similarly was 3-0 after his first three starts, including a shutout.

Chris Speier, the rookie shortstop, promptly began to fulfill all of the spring training predictions made for him. The rookie even got better when Tito Fuentes was made his permanent double play partner at second base on April 15. Speier and Fuentes were to become the best friends of Giant pitchers in more than a decade.

IT WAS a wonderful getaway but then Willie McCovey's left knee began acting up. Ken Henderson fractured a thumb. But those handicaps didn't stop the Giants. Mays, the team captain, volunteered for first base duty. A rookie, Jimmy Rosario, went to centerfield. Another rookie, George Foster, since traded away for backup shortstop insurance (Frank Duffy), went to left field as Henderson's replacement. Both outfield rookies performed handsomely.

IT WASN'T that way with the 1962 champions. That was the year Jack Sanford won 24 games, Billy Pierce didn't lose once in Candlestick, Don Larsen did wonderful things in saving one win after another for Sanford who completed only 13 of his victories. It also was a big year for Jimmy Davenport and Jose Pagan who knocked in 115 runs between them. And it was a big year for Harvey Kuenn (.304) after a disappointing .265 in 1961 when the Giants made a National Leaguer of the ex-American League batting champ.

Tigers Place Chance On Disabled List

DETROIT (UPI) —Dean Chance was placed on the 21-day disabled list by the Detroit Tigers Monday and replaced with veteran relief pitcher Jack Whillock.

Chance, acquired from the New York Mets March 30, had a 4-6 record for 31 games and a 3.50 earned run average but had not pitched since Aug. 9. He has a history of arm trouble.

Playoff, Series Dates Set

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1971 World Series will open on Saturday, October 9, in the home park of the American League champion, it was announced Monday by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn granted permission to the Baltimore Orioles and the Oakland A's to start printing tickets for the World Series following a two-hour meeting with representatives of 13 contending clubs. The commissioner also said that ticket prices for this year's league championship playoffs and World Series will remain the same as last year. Box seats for the Series will sell for $15, with reserve seats costing $10, pavilion $8, standing room, $6 and bleachers $4.

Travel dates for the Series are Monday, Oct. 11 and Fri., Oct. 15. All contending teams were directed to submit their 25-player eligibility list to the commissioner's office no later than Sept. 1.

The league championship series will open on Saturday, Oct. 2 in the home of the American League East Division winner and the National League West champion.

Monday, Oct. 4 will be an open date for travel should Oakland be involved in the A.L. playoffs, and either San Francisco or Los Angeles in the N.L. playoffs.

Box seats for the league championships will sell for $7. Reserves are $5, general admission, $3, and standing room will cost $3. The cost of bleacher seats will be established by the respective home clubs.

Niners Lose Top Choice To Toronto

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty Niners have lost only one thing so far this exhibition season—their first round draft choice.

Ohio State defensive back Tim Anderson Monday signed a three-year contract to play with Toronto of the Canadian Football League.

But it was hard to find much pessimism in the Forty Niners training base here after the 28-17 win over San Diego Sunday at Candlestick Park that ran the team's pre-season record to 2-0-1.

However, there was some disappointment. Jack White, the club's general manager, said he was disappointed the 49ers were unable to sign no. 1 draft choice Tim Anderson, who earlier in the day signed a contract with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian football league.

"I don't know for sure," said White, "but I believe he signed for less than we had offered him."

Lou Spadia, the 49er president, said "we made this young man what we thought was a fair offer."

Anderson, it is believed, signed a three-year contract with Toronto for about $25,000 a year.

Meanwhile, coach Dick Nolan gave the team Monday off and said that two defensive linemen came out of the San Diego

Veteran Football Experts To Work Marin 'Star' Game

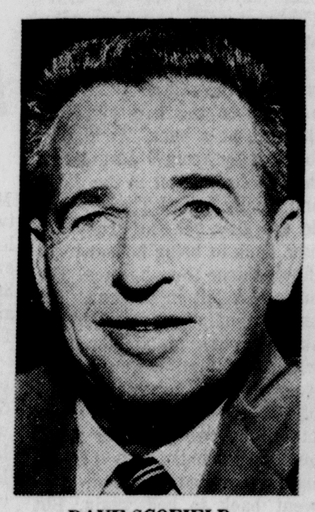
Curry, Ghilotti, Scofield Among Helping Hands

The sponsoring Ross Valley Kiwanis Club has lined up a formidable array of experienced talent to oversee Friday night's annual North-South Marin County High School All-Star Football Game at San Rafael High School.

A quartet of well-known faces in black and white striped shirts will officiate the contest matching the outstanding senior gridders from the 1970 local prep season who graduated in June.

Dean of the officials is Dick Curry of San Rafael who will be joined in the whistle-tooting, flag dropping brigade by Dick Hart of Redwood High School faculty and Mike Convis and Verle Sorgen of the Drake High faculty. Hart, Redwood High's successful basketball coach, also is a regular member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association football officiating corps. Curry has been officiating Marin and Redwood Empire athletic events for more than a quarter-century.

Charles Monte, publicist for the Kiwanis Club, also announced that Horace "Rusty" Ghilotti, veteran timekeeper from San Rafael, will man the clock and Dave Scofield of Larkspur, public address announcer for the San Francisco 49ers since their inception in 1946, will handle the loud speaker.



DAVE SCOFIELD
'The Voice'

'RUSTY' GHILOTTI
The timekeeper

Ghilotti is the most experienced of the officials for Friday night's sixth presentation of the Marin County football event. The 59-year-old Ghilotti has kept time for every San Rafael High School football game for the past 39 years, beginning in 1931 when, he recalls, "I wandered over to watch a game. They needed a timer, so I said I would try."

"This will probably be my last year at it," he said recently as he awaited the opening tickoff for his 40th season. Incidentally, there's no truth to the rumor that Ghilotti had to use a sun dial for some of the earlier days in his timekeeping career.

Any of the 4,000 fans expected at Friday night's prep game who has ever been to a 49er game will recognize the voice blaring from the loudspeakers as that of Dave Scofield. The former radio newscaster who is now a San Rafael real estate salesman has announced all but one of the 49er games since 1946. He missed just one game because of a business commitment in New York several years ago.

Monte also announced that Dr. George Ordway of Mill Valley will serve as physician for both squads.

Gals Win Recognition In Dipsea Race

The 61st annual Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce event, to be run over a rugged 6.8-mile Mt. Tamalpais trail Sunday at 10 a.m., will have a few new wrinkles — and some old ones.

For the first time, the Amateur Athletic Union will recognize the existence of women runners. Until this year, AAU judges merely turned their collective backs when the females took off on the rugged romp from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach. This year, competitors, inlcuding women, can pay $3 for the union's membership card.

In addition to this charge, participants must produce $2.50 for race registration — or pay on a "convenient" family rate of $2 for the first member and a $1 apiece for the rest.

After digging through the wallet and the tortuous layout, those finishing by 12:30 p.m. will again receive a survivor's medal. Informants say the momento can be hocked for bandaids in meeting expenses.

Among the old wrinkles will be the expected reappearance of last year's winner, 61-year-old Norman (Spright) Bright of Seattle and the man who broke his 33-year-old course mark , Don Makela of Novato. The young College of Marin sensation bested Bright's 1937 achievement of 47 minutes, 22 seconds by 30 seconds — but he lost the race to his venerable rival, as Bright had a 15 minute handicap.

While the two renew their battle, several champions of yesteryear will appear. They include 1968 winner Don Pickett, a 42-year-old Tiburon resident, and the omnipresent Jack Kirk, the ageless wonder who won the 1951 and 1967 top honors.

Another early entry is Vance Eberly, the 1969 champ. At the age of 10, the San Jose lad became the historic race's youngest winner, churning the distance at a 57 minute, 59 second clip.

With such a competitive field, studded with a cast of champs, it was no surpirse when Bill Devlin, former race chairman, reported that half of the 1,200 expected entrants had been registered by yesterday. If the present brisk pace is sustained, "We shouldn't have any trouble reaching the 1,200 figure," he concluded.

Ducks Unlimited Bash With Drakes, 'Bunnies'

By AL GIDDINGS

I just received a note from Tom Mack of San Anselmo. He's one of Ducks Unlimited's more ardent supporters, and he usually heads the committee for entertainment when a D.U. event is put on. His letters always have some inside info. Judge for yourself!

"Dear 'My Bird' Al:" (If you don't know what "My Bird" means, you're not a duck hunter!) You will be receiving in the mail an invitation to the greatest 'Drakes Only' dinner in the history of Marin County. We have gone first class by tieing up with the likes of the exclusive San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere on Sept. 28.

"Carter B. Smith of Radio KSFO has consented to be our auctioneer and the Playboy Club will deliver two Bunnies to assist him. I am afraid if the word gets out on this last bit of news, the wives won't let the boys go! Yours truly

Tom Mack
"World's Second Oldest Poacher"

"P.S. Please watch your stuffed turbet at the dinner; it might have an illegal robin crammed inside!"

I ALSO heard from John Eberhart of the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael about this same event. He says, "Cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30. There will be door prizes, an auction and a D.U. film. Get your tickets in advance only at the Western."

Are you a striped bass fisherman? San Francisco Bay fishermen are being asked to help in a research program intended to reveal the migratory habits of striped bass in bay waters.

The program is being conducted by Melvin Moriguchi, a graduate student at San Francisco State, whose work has the blessing of the Department of Fish and Game.

As a key part of his program Moriguchi plans to catch, tag and release up to 600 stripers in the bay this year. He hopes some of these fish will be recaught by anglers and that they will return the small green tags to the Department of Fish and Game which will turn them over to him. In additon to returning the tags to the DFG address printed on them, anglers are being asked to enclose a short note telling when and where the fish was caught.

If enough tags are recovered, Moriguchi believes he can determine when and where stripers are most likely to be found in the bay.

Besides identifying the centers of the striped bass fishery in the bay, the study is intended to determine the physical and biological factors which will be valuable in identifying key areas of the bay to be protected from pollution and filling, Moriguchi points out.

SOMETIMES I think this buck hunting is for the birds! This past week, I took my wife, Marylu, and my daughter (also a Marylu) along with Ken Walker out to the ranch. About 8:30 p.m. or so the two girls got shooting at a buck. We finally found it by about 9 p.m. Down the hill dragging it in the dark, and finally home! Then, where do the girls go? Ha! They are now back to being housewives; they've done their heroics! The buck was left in the car. Ken and I finally got it hung up, skinned out and quartered. It was 11:15 p.m. Dinner? I wasn't hungry by this time, so off to bed. There I was under attack by two big deer fleas, one on each leg! I turned on the light, searched the bed, then went back to bed again. But every minute after that I was sure that I could feel something else crawling around. Can't you feel them right now?

'BRIDESMAIDS' IN MARIN TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS

Marin Youths In National Swim Meet

By PAUL CANE

Denise Ham and Rick DeMont, the Marin Aquatic Club's two world-ranked swim stars, lead a local delegation of seven swimmers to the National AAU Swimming Championships beginning tomorrow in Houston, Texas.

Miss Ham, a blonde, 17-year-old senior at San Rafael High School, was listed 23rd in the world in the 200-meter butterfly last year, and according to a list of 20 world best times (through July 23) published in "Swimming World" magazine, has now bettered the 18th place time. Miss Ham, the veteran of all Marin A.C. swimmers, is appearing in her fourth National AAU meet.

DeMont, at 15 a Terra Linda junior, is making his first National Championships appearance for the MAC, but has bettered the 12th best time in the world on the aforementioned list in his specialty, the 1,500 meter freestyle.

Marin Aquatic Club coach Don Swartz is optimistic about the possibilities for high placings at the meet, citing Miss Ham in the 200 fly and 200 breaststroke, Jo Hislop in the 100 free, Sue Secondo in the 200 breast, and DeMont in the 1,500 as possible individual point-scorers.

According to Swartz, the outlook for relays is even better, especially in the womens' 400 medley and 400 free. Kim Hughes, and Misses Secondo, Ham, and Hislop make up the 400 Medley Relay which placed in the top six at the Los Angeles Invitational earlier this month, while posting a career best time and team record. The 400 Free Relay, made up of 13-year-old Maura Campion, Anne Engel and Misses Hislop and Ham, took fourth in Los Angeles while improving its previous best time by more than two seconds.

At the Los Angeles meet, nearly all Marin A.C. swimmers achieved best times, and Swartz was impressed with the number of people who placed in the top 16.

He noted DeMont's fourth-place 1,500 effort, and Miss Ham's fourth in the 200 fly as indications for possible high placing at Houston.

Miss Secondo captured two breaststroke placings at Los Angeles, with a sixth in the 200 and a seventh over the 100 meter distance. Swartz observed that Sue's performance in the medley relay would be a key factor in determining the medley relay's placing, which "could be in the top 10."

Miss Hislop, in addition to anchoring the Marin A. C. relays, has a shot at placing in the wide open 100 meter free. Jo took sixth at Los Angeles, but in Swartz' words, "over that short a distance, anything can happen." Swartz predicted a big improvement in Miss Hislop's 200 meter free time, and said he figured a drop of three seconds would not surprise him. This big time dropoff would easily place Jo in the top 16.

Miss Hughes, a 14-year-old Redwood High School sophomore, has her work cut out for her in the Medley Relay, but will also compete in the 200 Individual Medley, an event she took second in in the State Junior Olympic meet a month ago.

Also swimming the 200 I.M. are Miss Hislop, who won the consolation final heat for ninth place in Los Angeles, and Miss Ham, who finished right behind in the same event in Southern California.

Swartz gave outside chances to either Miss Hislop or Miss Ham to make the top 16 in the I.M., but noted that Miss Hughes was a little young to expect to place that high.

Miss Ham rounds out her full slate of events with the 400 meter I.M., an event she placed eighth in at Los Angeles.

DeMont, Marin County's first male qualifier for the Nationals, will also swim the 400 free, which according to Swartz may be a little too short for distance-swimming DeMont.

The 800 Free Relay, comprised of Misses Engel, Ham, Hislop, and Campion, does not figure to place in the top 10, but could, according to coach Swartz, prove to be a surprise.

Last spring at the short course Nationals in Washington, the Marin A.C. finished with a disappointing total of five points, which, if all goes well, could be increased to 30 this time. The key, according to Swartz, is high placings in the relays, which score double points.

Softball Results

Patio Club downed Marin Supply 14-6, Morwear Paints trimmed Native Sons 3-1 and Timmer Realty took Sons of Sicily 9-2 in San Rafael Recreation Department softball yesterday on Albert Field.

Mike Jones and Wayne Onajuca each drove in a pair of runs to pace Patio's attack; pitcher Ken Zappetini rode the crest of a three-run fourth enroute to fashioning a two-hitter for Morwear; while Larry Schmidt smacked two homers in a losing cause for Sons of Sicily.

games with injuries. Earl Edwards injured a shoulder and Cedrick Hardman suffered a slight knee strain. Nolan doubted that either would go Saturday against Denver in the team's next exhibition game.

Unsung runners Vic Washington and Larry Schreiber looked outstanding against the Chargers and Nolan said he "certainly was pleased with what they showed me."

In fact, Nolan said he was happy with the entire 49ers offense against San Diego except for the second half turnovers that got San Diego back into the game.

"Fumbles are part of the game," he said, "but they are something we have to work hard at to eliminate or at least keep to a very minimum."

Mexico Champs Win L.A. Bouts Before 14,806

The two champions and national heroes in Mexico delighted a crowd of 14,806 which paid $135,200 to see 44 scheduled rounds of boxing at the Forum.

Napoles, 152 3-4, fought a confident fight against the veteran Frenchman and former European champion who came in at 153 1-4. The champion opened a cut under Josselin's left eye in the second round and began slamming his opponent around in the third round.

The end came suddenly at 1:15 of the fifth when Napoles unleashed a right and two left hooks to send Josselin to the canvas. Referee Chuck Hassett didn't bother to count and the Frenchman was on his back for at least a minute before being assisted to his corner.

Marin Bowler Places Seventh In Match Play

Marilyn Epidendio, one of Marin County's highest average bowlers, took seventh place but it was not enough to qualify for the championship rounds in the Ladies West Coast Match championships.

Going into the final day last week, Mrs. Epidendio moved from 10th to seventh in a belated bid to make the fifth and last playoff spot by rolling an 8.23 series on games of 200, 242, 172, 209. Her 8-8 won-lost record included a close, six-pin loss to front runner Sis Hay of Fremont. The Marin bowler was only 16 pins from the coveted fifth spot. Sharon Wroten of Pacifica, Vesma Grinfelds of San Francisco, Fran Verniest of Brisbane and Ario Marquardt of South San Francisco finished ahead of her in that order below Sis Hay.

Cal Gets Rich On Raider Deal

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BERKELEY — It pays for the colleges to play ball with the pros.

The University of California is expected to receive about $38,000 from the Oakland Raiders exhibition game with the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday in Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders gave the school a $30,000 guarantee, concession rights and 10 per cent of the gross profits over $400,000. A crowd of 67,739 fans showed up — largest professional sports draw in northern California history.

Baseball

AMARILLO, Tex. — Les Scott, San Francisco Giants farmhand who pitched 8⅔ innings of no-hit ball July 23 against Memphis, made it all the way about three weeks later.

The 24-year-old Panama native tossed the no-hitter Sunday in pitching Amarillo past Dallas-Fort Worth 5-0. It was Scott's 13th win in 22 decisions.

Football

BERKELEY — Everybody agrees the University of California could surprise this year — if they can find a quarterback.

They certainly don't lack for candidates as veterans Reed Chastang and Jay Cruze are battling JC transfer Don Wilcox and high school star George Fraser, who didn't play as a fresh or in spring drills.

STANFORD — Stanford's gridders all passed the physical and in opening drills. Miles Moore, converted from defensive back to wide receiver, made the coaches look smart with some dazzling catches.

But one sour note saw touted soph receiver Rufus Shaw not on the squad. He didn't come to Stanford from his Texas home this season and reportedly will enroll at Southern Methodist.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Thirty-six lettermen were among the 86 candidates who drilled without pads at Monday's opening of Oregon State football practice.

Coach Dee Andros said he had two "number one" quarterbacks in Steve Endicott and Jim Kilmartin.

Golf

Nicklaus has earned $205,463 so far in 1971 to snap Billy Casper's three-year-old mark by $295.

Basketball

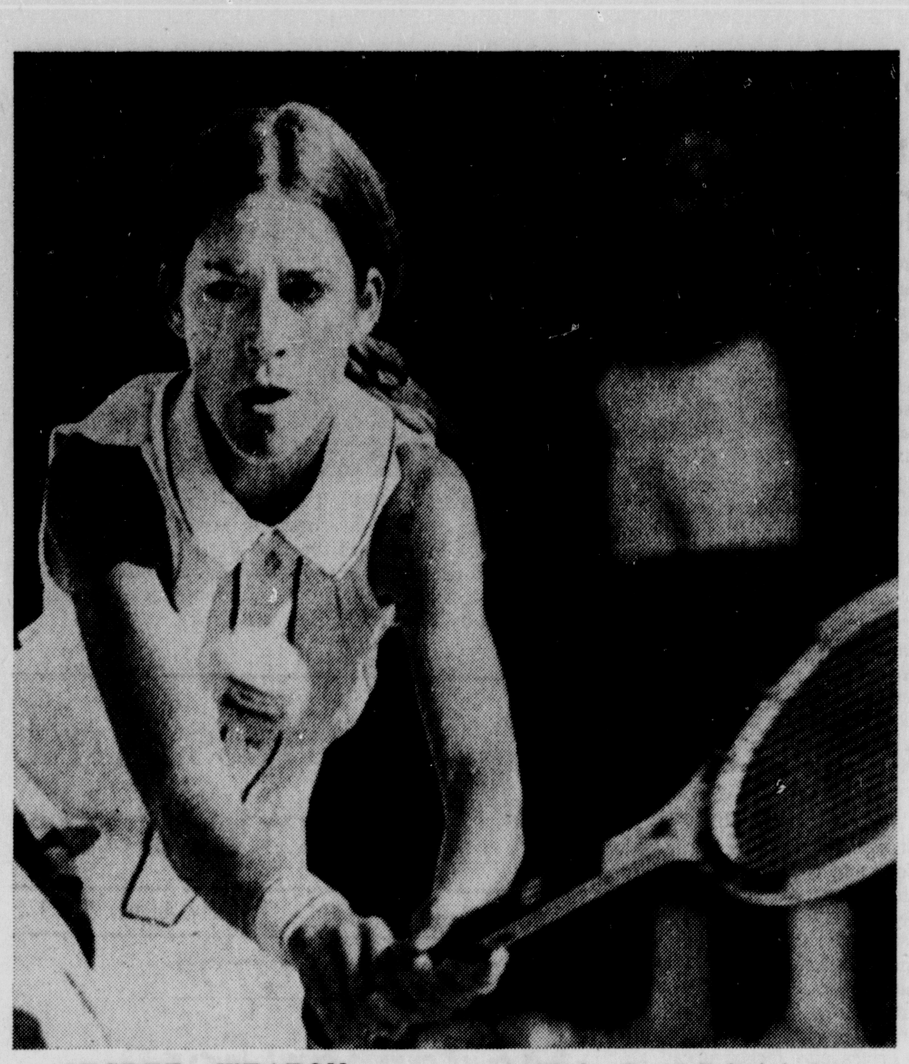
DETROIT — Guard Jimmy Walker signed a two-year contract and forward Bob Quick a one-year pact Monday with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association. Both contracts call for raises when and if President Nixon lifts the freeze on wages and prices.

Tennis

NEW YORK — Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., retained his lead for the fourth straight week in the $250,000 Pepsi grand prix of tennis. Smith, with 127 points, holds an eight-point edge over second-place Ilie Nastase of Romania.

Boxing

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. — An iron curtain boxing team from Romania, which holds the 1971 European championship title, will meet the U.S. Olympic boxing team here Sept. 4, it was announced Monday.



SECRET WEAPON — American's Chris Evert, 16, the youngest Wightman Cup participant ever, shows her form as she drubbed Virginia Wade, Great Britain's top seed, 6-1, 6-1. Her triumph captured the Wightman Cup event for the United States.

U. S. Secret Weapon Wins Cup

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Carol Graebner's "secret weapon" proved to be the decisive factor in the United States' 4-3 victory over Great Britain Monday in the 43rd annual Wightman Cup Tennis Championships.

Chris Evert, 16, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the "secret weapon," displayed her double back-handed proficiency and maturity in overpowering favored Virginia Wade 6-1, 6-1 in 40 minutes in the final round of play to hand the Americans the coveted silver cup for the 36th time.

"Just sitting in awe of the 16-year-old was exhausting," said Mrs. Graebner, the captain of the U.S. team. "I never saw Chris play until we started practicing for the tie. I went with her on the excellent reports I received from Donna Fales (head of the Women's Players Association) who watched Chris play in Florida."

Chris dazzled the gallery of 6,093 by taking the first four games in the first set before Miss Wade, ranked No. 5 in the world and No. 2 in Britain, held her own service for the first time. Chris' victory clinched the match for the U.S. in the best-of-seven series.

Stabler's Progress Has Lamonica 'Antsy'

OAKLAND (UPI) —Daryle Lamonica is hurting and George Blanda is resting, but maybe it's time for the two Oakland Raider veteran quarterbacks to get back in the thick of the action.

That's because number three signal-caller Kenny Stabler is looking great after 10 quarters of exhibition action.

"I feel more confident each time I play," Stabler said after leading the Raiders to a 20-7 win at Berkeley Saturday.

Wide receiver Drew Buie says "Kenny is coming along so fast it scares you."

Stabler hit 7 of 13 passes in the first half against Los Angeles, but had two dropped.

Lamonica pulled a hamstring muscle in a freak accident and since then has been slowly coming back into shape.

"I'm getting antsy," the big guy says. "I wanted to play against the Rams, but we couldn't take the chance. If I reinjured it, I'd really be in trouble."

The Raiders got some bad news Monday when they learned that both fullback Hewritt Dixon and middle linebacker Bill Enyart may be out for as long as eight weeks with knee injuries. Another linebacker, Gerald Irons, suffered a hip injury against the Rams and could be out for a month.

Lamonica, linebacker Duane Benson, cornerback Nemiah Wilson and defensive end Tony Cline are expected to return against Green Bay. Lamonica and Benson have missed all three exhibitions and Benson and Wilson missed the Rams affair.

Denver Broncos Waive Two Ends

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Broncos placed wide receivers Aaron Marsh and Floyd Franks on waivers Monday prior to launching practice for Saturday's exhibition game at Spokane against the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Fourth In Water Ski

San Rafael's Mike McGinley, 16, took fourth in both the boys' age 16 tricks and overall competition in the National Water Ski Championships at White Sulphur Lake near Delaware, Ohio Sunday.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Atlanta, Los Angeles Fold, Help Giants Increase Lead

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Don't tell Luman Harris that the Pittsburgh Pirates are in a slump.

Even though the Pirates had been blanked three times in the last 10 days and lost eight out of 11, they pounded the Braves twice Monday night, 4-3 and 15-4 while collecting a total of 28 hits.

"Slump!" exclaimed Harris, the Braves' manager. "What kind of a slump can a club have that has a team batting average of .274 and five guys hitting over 300." Harris continued. "What kind of a slump are you in when you have a guy like Manny Sanguillen (hitting .326) batting sixth."

Sanguillen did the Braves in during the opener when he tripled in two runs in the sixth and scored on a passed ball. Al Oliver led the attack in the second game with five hits including two homers and a triple and five RBIs.

Pirates manager Danny Murtaugh, who was happy to see the Pirates boost their National League East lead to five games, said: "It's what we needed. We were in a slump because we weren't hitting. This is the kind of club that has to hit to win."

Oliver, who was hitting .268 with seven homers and 38 RBIs after the first game when he collected just one hit, had been disturbed about his failure to hit.

"I'd been down, really down, the past few weeks," Oliver said. "I was having trouble keeping my confidence up and my temper down. The team had been waiting for me and I felt I had been letting the team down."

He added: "It was the best night I've ever had in professional baseball." Oliver singled in the first, tripled in a third inning run and scored himself, hit a two-run homer in the fourth, singled and scored in the sixth; flied out in the seventh and then hit another two-run homer in the ninth.

In the other National League games, Chicago downed Cincinnati 6-3, St. Louis nipped Houston 3-2, Montreal routed Los Angeles 12-6, San Francisco edged New York 5-4 and Philadelphia nipped San Diego 3-1. In the only American League action, Detroit edged Minnesota 4-2 and Oakland beat New York 8-2.

Bob Gibson, boosting his record to 12-11, pitched a seven-hitter and singled in the winning run in the eighth inning to give St. Louis the victory over Houston. Gibson struck out his first three times up before winning his own game. He has now won six of his last eight.

The Montreal Expos aren't acting like an expansion club these days. They beat the Dodgers for their eighth straight victory, the longest winning streak in the club's history. Rusty Staub drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a sacrifice fly and Boots Day drove in four more as the Dodgers slipped 7½ games behind San Francisco.

VOLLEYBALL MEMORIES

U.S. Coach Meets Fidel — Briefly

MIAMI (UPI)—U.S. volleyball coach Al Scates is a rangy fellow who's gone to the net with some of the best in the world.

But he was no match for a security guard who blocked him out of the play when he tried to linger after shaking hands with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

"I thought I was going to get a chance to talk to him," Scates said of his meeting with Castro Sunday prior to the final match of the zonal Olympic elimination in Havana's Sports City coliseum.

Then Scates felt an elbow in his ribs, and the next thing he knew he was standing about six feet down the line. So much for volleyball diplomacy.

"It seemed like there were a hundred of them," Scates said of the guards with .45-caliber pistols on their hips.

"There was an army of them. The Secret Service in the U.S. tries to be unobtrusive. But not these guys. They were all over the place, standing around watching everybody. Have there been any attempts to kill him?"

According to Cuban government accounts and reports printed in the United States, there have been several assassination plots against Castro.

Scates was also intrigued by the arrangements for Castro's departure from the coliseum after the event.

"They had three cars parked outside —three little Fiats, exactly alike. Nobody knew which one Castro was going to use. When he left, all three cars drove off in different directions."

RUBBER CONE TO PROTECT AIRCRAFT

A protective rubber cone used on the radar domes of supersonic aircraft comes out of the mold at a B. F. Goodrich plant in Akron, Ohio. The cone, made with company's highly heat-resistant Epcar EPDM rubber, protects the fiberglass radar domes on the aircraft's nose from the erosive action of rain at high speed. The BFG chemical division is starting up a newly-constructed multimillion dollar plant to produce the synthetic rubber at Orange, Tex.

Stocks Rise In Heavy Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were sharply higher in fairly heavy turnover through the second hour of trading today.

Analysts said that the market was continuing to react to the sweeping changes in economic policy announced by President Nixon a week ago Sunday.

In addition, the government took two steps today designed to stablize interest rates on mortgages and to make more funds available in loans to potential home buyers.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates savings and loan institutions, reduced the amount of cash those institutions must keep in reserve for emergencies. It freed up to $800 million for lending to home buyers.

At the same time, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Cor. announced a cut in its charge which will reduce the cost of a $20,000 mortgage to $600, and also said it would make $300 million available to buy Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration Mortgages.

On the Big Board, Dow Chemical and Walt Disney were ahead more than 2 each, while IBM gaineed 3 1-8.

Motors and aircrafts were narrowly mixed.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTOR

Marlennan For Younger Investor

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 25 years old, working, single and have $2,700 in savings and cash. My aim is to increase my income or is there some other way to increase my financial base? Would bonds be suitable? — D.K.

A. If I understand your goal correctly it is to expand your financial assets or net worth rather than to increase your current income. In that case and since you are young, you should concentrate on investments which will grow over the years and thereby enlarge your assets. Until you have added to your savings backlog I would recommend limiting your initial investment to under $1000.

Marlennan, listed on the NYSE, appears to have above average long-term merit. Although established about 100 years ago, Marlennan did not go public until 1962. Since then dividends and earnings have risen consistently. The earnings' uptrend has carried over into 1971, with an 11 per cent gain in net reported for the first half. Operations of this holding company are concentrated in the field of insurance brokerage. However, in recent years related financial services have been added, including investment management, real estate and management consulting. The acquisition of Putnam Management late in 1970 reduced Marlennan's almost total dependence on insurance commissions as a source of income.

Shares, now trading about 15 per cent below their all-time high, should provide a strong base from which to build an investment portfolio.

Q. Where can I get a monthly list of all stocks that split? I think this is an important item for the serious investor to have. — E.N.

A. To my knowledge no such monthly listing is available. Weekly summaries of dividend action, including splits, are printed in Barron's, published by Dow Jones & Co., Inc. However, if you require a complete listing the most comprehensive sources are the daily dividend services published both by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. and Standard & Poor's Corp. The financial pages of your daily newspaper should also carry these lists of dividend action.

Share Redemption To Resume In Investment Indicators Sept. 2

The formerly San Rafael-based mutual fund, Investment Indicators Fund, in a report to shareholders last week, announced that redemption of its shares will be resumed beginning Sept. 2.

Fund prices will appear among mutual fund quotations reported Saturdays in the Independent-Journal. Net asset value as of Aug. 16 was stated to be $7.16. Redemption of the fund's shares has been suspended since last December as a result of proceedings brought by the State of Texas for not registering the offering and sale of the shares under the Texas securities law.

According to Charles R. Schwab, president of the fund, the number and dollar amount of cliams made against the fund since last December because of the non-registration has been insubstantial, and it is now considered possible to evaluate fairly the fund's assets. This does not preclude the possibility that other claims may be filed and if any liability for them should be recorded this could result in a reduction of net asset value.

The fund's main address is now 120 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

A NEW STORE devoted exclusively to Levi brand clothes will open Sept. 7 at 3200 Northgate Mall under the name of Good Vi's.

This is a first venture on their own for two young Mill Valley men, Robert Cordaro and David Muir. They will carry an extensive line of Levi jeans, slacks and double knits for the casual man and for the youth market.

Muir was formerly from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Cordaro is from East Grand Rapids, Mich. Both were Michigan State University graduates.

D. CAMERON BAKER of Belvedere, partner in the San Francisco law firm of Miller, Groezinger, Pettit and Evers, has been elected a director of Leslie Salt Co. He is a past president and director of the Barristers Club of San Francisco and a former ex-officio director of the San Francisco Bar Association.

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGER at Crocker Bank's Kentfield office is Fred R. Merrill, who has been assistant manager at the Sonoma office. He joined the bank in 1963 and has served in various capacities in its West Bay offices.

MARIAN HUDDLESTON of Mill Valley, personnel director of Pacific National Life Assurance Co., has been elected treasurer of the Insurance Personnel Management Association.

JOSEPH P. MICHELETTI, lending officer at Bank of America's San Rafael main office, is celebrating his 30th anniversary with the bank this week. He began his banking career at the central office in San Francisco and worked in branches and the credit department in that city before assuming his present position in San Rafael in 1961.

EDWARD HAGEMAN JR. of Sleepy Hollow, principal in Hageman-Thomas-Eklund, Inc., San Rafael, has been elected to the executive board of the American Institute of Building Designers.

TOMORROW'S AUTOMOBILE SHOW at Strawberry Town and Country Village, Mill Valley is expected to have over 130 cars on display. Included will be antiques, hot rods, sport cars, customs, racing cars and dragsters, starting from the early 1900s to the latest experimental designs.

The show starts at 11 a.m. and is over at 4 p.m. Admission is $1, with youngsters under 12 admitted free. All proceeds benefit the Marin chapter of the Northern California Kidney Foundation.

Systron-Donner Wins Contracts Worth $1 Million

CONCORD (BW) — The Microwave division of Systron-Donner Corp., located in Van Nuys, recently received two contracts worth $1 million covering a radar sub-system and signal analysis systems.

A contract from the electronics and space division of Emerson in St. Louis is for the fire-control radar sub-system for the Northrop F-5-E designed for use against air threats from MIG-21 aircraft in Southeast Asia.

The second contract covers a quantity of airborne installations for in-flight visual analysis of navigation and communication signals and identification and control of interfering signals.

The contract was awarded by the Department of Transportation of the Federal Aviation Administration and includes a spectrum analyzer from the microwave division of Systron-Donner.

Plan Would Curb Growth In One Area Of Novato

The Novato planning staff has recommended a general plan for the Scottsdale-Crossroads area, Southern entranceway to the city, that would accommodate less population than present development trends indicate.

The plan was submitted last night to the Novato Planning Commission which asked the staff last January to undertake the study.

Maximum development under the plan would result in a population of 5,500 while the current trend — according to city planners — ultimately would result in 7,000.

The study covers 375 acres, all the land between Highway 101 and South Novato Boulevard south of Have Gardens subdivision, which now has a population of 1,200. Two-thirds of the land is now vacant.

The pattern is single-family homes on the west side of the area, townhouses on the east side along Highway 101 and apartments at the Highway 101-Rowland Boulevard interchange, to be part of the highway bypass project, and at the South Novato and Redwood boulevards intersection which is to be constructed.

The planners recommended 360 single-family and duplex units, 920 townhouse or cluster units, 780 apartment units, 40 acres of commercial use and 45 acres of park and open space.

"The view from South Novato Boulevard into the planning area is unattractive, due to the unfinished appearance of the street, the weed filled ditches and banks on either side, the deteriorating fences, the staff reported.

"From Highway 101 the appearance is somewhat different, the hills and trees and the Scottsdale Lagoon are attractive, but the Leafwood apartments and the half urban, half natural appearance around the Rowland Boulevard-Redwood Boulevard intersection make a poor entrance for Novato."

The staff also reported that the "commercial development at Rowland Boulevard and South Novato Boulevard is poorly designed, unattractive and creates traffic conflicts."

The proposed plan designated the Scottsdale Lagoon as open space and said it may have to be purchased by the city and "investigation of this should begin immediately."

The area of the Rowland interchange appears to be a good location for apartments, staff said. "The question of land uses along freeways is a difficult one. In most towns, it is impossible to line them with non-residential uses and many people feel that single family neighborhoods built next to a freeway are likely to deteriorate faster than normal thus, quite often apartments are planned."

Staff indicated that park land should extend in varying width from Scottsdale Lagoon to the south end of the are, with land to be acquired from developers by dedication.

The only major problem that might arise under the proposed plan is that when they are fully developed there would be inadequate facilities for "just under" 150 junior high school pupils and "just under" 150 high school students, the staff reported.

This could be rectified by expansion of Novato High School and Hill or San Jose junior high schools. Sites for elementary schools are indicated in the plan, with the recommendation that the Novato Unified School District investigate the need.

Drug Store, Other Units Win Approval

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved the addition of a major drug store and four other smaller retail stores in the Novato Fair Shopping Center.

The vote was 6-0 with commissioner F. James Picchi absent.

The $1 million dollar addition was not approved until the commission added several conditions to the plan of Robert B. Liles Inc.

A Walgreen Drug Store and four other stores would be constructed adjacent to Highway 101 and facing the interior of the shopping center. The stores would contain 36,325-square feet. When first proposed the planners wanted the stores to face Highway 101 which will become a city street upon completion of the freeway bypass of downtown Novato.

The commission required a concrete block wall between the stores and Highway 101. They also required landscaping behind the stores adjacent to the highway.

The commission required that the owner designate as a park, the area the firm owns between South Novato Boulevard and Novato Creek from Diablo Avenue to the private bridge to the shopping center. The vote was 4-2 with commissioners Paul A. Oatis Jr. and Benjamin F. Edwards against. Edwards and Oatis said that the commission did not have the authority to take such action as the land was outside the shopping center master plan, even though it was owned by the same firm.

By the same vote, the commission deleted 12 parking spaces between the drug store and the main shopping center to make a landscaped mall. It eliminated by unanimous vote, nine parking spaces to the rear of the stores.

It set a limit of 500 parking spaces in the shopping center which now has 535.

The commission voted to require installatin of bicycle racks and benches. It defeated a motion to require the owners to install public rest rooms, drinking fountains and a bulletin board.

Commissioner Gail Wilhelm who made the motion said that when she went shopping with her children, there was no place for them to go to the bathroom or get a drink. She said that a bulletin board would stop the signs which people place in store windows.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

REZONING — Approved rezoning from limited roadside business to highway commerical, 1,300-square feet at the intersection of Nave Drive and Highway 101 for Kenneth Rosenberg. The zone change must go to the Novato City Council for final approval.

THEATERS — Approved requiring a use permit for theaters in a retail commercial zone, as now required in other commercial zones. This must go to the council for approval.

BOAT SALES — Granted a use permit for a boat sales and service east of Highway 101 north of Novato Creek to Ladner Cameron and James Seaton with the provision that they give the necessary easement for flood control.

CONTINUED — Continued until Sept. 13 consideration of rezoning from agricultural to residential 67 acres south of Novato Boulevard west of Sutro Avenue. This is the O'Hair property which the city had considered buying for a park.

HEARING — Set Sept. 13 for a hearing to rezone from limited agriculture to administrative professional zone, a lot on the south side of Novato Boulevard west of Grant Avenue for Jose and Julia Gonzales.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Monday at the Novato council chambers to take up the final 11 items on the agenda.

Neighbors Hate Sound Of Music

They have formed a group called Cadillac Avenue Environmental Noise Abatement Committee and have asked city officials to do something about the singer, a teacher, and his pupils.

Chairman James Crane, a corporate consultant, said they practice from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and the music intrudes on listening to radio, television, talking on the telephone and "normal conversation in the home."

Gianelli Fires Back At Nader On Water Report

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

State Water Resources Director William R. Gianelli fired back again at a Ralph Nader task force report on California but the controversial study has drawn qualified endorsement from a Democratic congressman.

Gianelli said Monday he had warned Nader about "inaccuracies and misinformation" in the research of a student who helped prepare the controversial report on California's land and water resources.

In the Nader report, Gianelli's resignation is demanded and he is accused of "deceiving the public with his economic evaluations" of the massive State Water Project.

According to Gianelli, the student, Keith Roberts, contacted him after writing a story on the water project for the March issue of a San Francisco newspaper, "Clear Creek."

Gianelli said it is his impression the article later became part of Nader's report. He said he never received a reply from Nader.

The state official said the Roberts article contained "many errors in fact," which he said he pointed out to the Harvard law school student during a one hour conversation.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., an outspoken foe of the water project, said Nader's conclusion that the state Water Resources Department is seeking to end his political career comes as no surprise.

The Nader study said the agency and the Metropotitan Water District of Southern California were "not too subtly" trying to sidetrack Waldie's plans to seek the governorship in 1974.

"Tactics such as slush funds and political conivance among water agencies only serve to show the measure of panic now sweeping proponents of the State Water Project and the peripheral canal," Waldie said.

Meanwhle, Gov. Ronald Reagan expressed full support of Gianelli and, through an aide, defended the water project and the state's anti-pollution efforts.

William Strobel, an assistant press secretary to Reagan, said Nader "either ignored or chose to overlook the fact that California is leading the nation in environmental protection legislation and has, in fact, the toughest antipollution controls in the nation."

The governor's office said comment on specific criticisms will not be made until "we receive the report and have a chance to look at it."

Another sharp attack on Nader's findings was delivered by Henry J. Mills, general manager of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California and largest contractor for State Water Project water.
